PARLIAMENT TO OPEN 'FULL HOUSE' JAN. 14

OTTAWA (CP)—The 1960 session of Parliament will open Thursday, Jan. 14, it was learned today.

The 265-seat Commons now is at full strength, numbering 208 Progressive Conservatives, 49 Liberals and eight CCF MPs.

BEAUTY ON THE CAMPUS

Election of Victoria College campus queen Saturday, Nov. 21, will pose chore for students who must choose from attractive contestants above. Election will tie in with college open house and "homecoming," where public is invited to view facilities

Winter Whips Up First Snow For Cold Weekend in City

10 BELOW GRIDIRON FOR BOMBERS VS. ESKS

WINNIPEG—The weatherman says it may be 10 below zero Saturday when the Blue Bombers tackle Edmonton Eskimos for the second game of the western football championship.

However, a tarpaulin which covers the gridiron may keep the footing fairly soft. (The game will be nationally televised, starting at 12 noon on CHEK here.)

In the East, Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders will play the opener of the eastern finals.

Flurries Expected To Start Saturday

Victoria will have snow flurries Saturday, weatherman William Mackie predicted today. Temperature will drop to 28 and lower later.

They will be the result of a mild weather disturbance, which gave snow in the Queen Charlotte Islands today, jousting with the Arctic air now firmly entrenched over the coast.

There will be increasing cloudiness tonight and generally cloudy skies Saturday, with temperatures on the critical line where the slightest deviation up or down can mean either rain or snow.

COLDEST OF SEASON

"We are aiming for snow," he said. "The only question is when it will start."

Temperatures overnight ranged between 24 and 28 degrees in the Greater Victoria areas, lowest reached this season.

JUST RESPIRE

Minimum tonight will be between 28 and 30 degrees, and Saturday's maximum will be 38 degrees, but that will be "just a respite," Mr. Mackie said.

"Arctic air is strengthening in the Yukon," he said, "and it will help to keep things as they are now."

The wintry conditions are expected to last over the weekend.

CANADA FREEZES

Western Canada was in the grip of below-freezing temperatures today while in other parts of the country the weather ranged from wet snow in most of Southern Ontario to rain in parts of the Maritimes.

Temperatures plunged to the low 20s on the lower B.C. mainland while interior districts such as Kamloops and Prince George were expected to have temperatures from zero to 20 below.

Forecasts today for Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba call for temperatures well below the zero mark. Temperatures were expected to climb slightly higher in western Alberta today but higher winds were also predicted to maintain the chill.

Southern Ontario Thursday night experienced its heaviest snowfall this season with depths ranging from four inches in the Toronto area. Another snowfall is predicted tonight. Temperatures were expected to rise today to the high 30s.

FEAR GRIPS COMMUNITY

Who's Next For Bomber?

NEW YORK (UPI)—A normally quiet neighborhood on Staten Island was clutched by fear today. Housewives were afraid to go outdoors. Car owners approached garage doors with terror.

SHIP CRIPPLED BY EXPLOSION OFF ISLAND

SEATTLE (UPI)—An explosion in the No. 1 boiler left the attack cargo ship USS Skagit dead in the water about 100 miles north of Vancouver Island today.

A full complement of 250 officers and crew and about 65 marines were aboard the 15,000-ton ship. No injuries were reported.

Navy headquarters here said the No. 2 boiler in the 458-foot ship also went out and the ship was completely without power.

The tug Tatnuck out of Bremerton, Wash., has been directed to proceed to the crippled ship and the Coast Guard cutter Winona out of Port Angeles, Wash., also was en route.

50 WOUNDS

When Mrs. Giarletta got out of her husband's car in front of their garage Tuesday night the blast from a planted hand grenade, triggered as she raised the overhead garage door, tore off her legs and slashed at her body. She received more than 50 wounds. Mrs. Giarletta died Thursday.

Police reported they had assigned a guard to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trachta because a rough voice on the telephone had said: "Your garage is next."

Mrs. Trachta was nearly hysterical. So were many others. More than 50 residents asked police to search their garages. Others were afraid to put their cars away and autos stood at the curbs throughout the area.

Detectives found no motive for the Giarletta bombing or for the Trachta threat.

An investigator said: "The trap was an old trick. Any infantryman or army engineer would have known that once the door was raised, the triggered grenade would explode in three seconds."

Fragments of the grenade bore a serial number. Police are checking the number with all military installations in the area.

9-Year-Old Hero as Four Flee Flames

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP)—Nine-year-old Brian McBurnie saved his mother and two younger children today when fire swept through their home in this community near Vancouver.

Brian, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McBurnie, awoke early this morning and smelled smoke. He dashed downstairs and awakened his mother and younger sister Patsy, eight.

Then the lad returned upstairs, through heavy smoke, for his brother Billie, two. Brian carried Billie to safety downstairs.

All four escaped without injury. Mr. McBurnie was on a hunting trip at the time of the fire, which destroyed the home and caused damage estimated at $15,000. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

"Brian did a wonderful thing," his mother said later. "The smoke and flames were between him and me. I am a heavy sleeper and I'd never have awakened in time if he hadn't come for us."

POLICE LACK CLUES IN ART THEFT AT UBC

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rewards were expected to be posted today for the return of paintings valued at $40,000, stolen from the art gallery at the University of British Columbia.

A spokesman for an insurance adjusting firm said a cash reward of up to 10 per cent of the value of each painting likely will be offered. He declined to identify himself or his firm.

Meanwhile, RCMP investigators said today they still have no solid lead on the thieves who broke into the basement library early this week and took the paintings from a travelling exhibition.

'BROUGHT UP BY FLEMING'

Bennett Denies Power Tax Bid

Premier Bennett today denied charges he had appealed at Ottawa for abolition of corporation taxes now collected from private utilities such as the B.C. Electric.

"It wasn't brought up by me. It was brought up by Fleming," he said, in reference to federal Finance Minister Donald Fleming.

The premier told a press conference this morning he would break his rule of not discussing talks held in camera. He was incensed at remarks by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan that the premier was spending public time at Ottawa arguing for tax concessions for private power firms, to the detriment of the government-owned B.C. Power Commission.

EACH PROVINCE ASKED

The premier said Mr. Fleming asked each province for its views on the federal corporation tax as applied to private utilities.

Cut Prices, Britons Asked

LONDON (UPI)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Derick Heathcoat Amory urged British industry today to cut prices to keep the bloom on Britain's boom.

Amory, speaking to the National Production Advisory Council, said Britain had "a magnificent chance to continue expansion without inflation."

"Maintenance of the present buoyant level of (business) activity depends on the continuance of price stability, and the continuance of that stability depends on price reductions being made where they can," he said.

WHO'D DO A HOODOO ON SUCH A FAIR 13TH?

TORONTO (CP)—No morbid fear of the number 13 disturbs the rural foundation of this year's Royal Winter Fair. Officially opened today, Friday the 13th by one of the fair's top judges, the Duke of Northumberland, the Royal will give away 1,300 roses to the first 1,300 women entering the horse show arena. Oddly enough, 1,300 entries have been received for the horse show.

Billed as the world's largest indoor agricultural exhibition, the fair has 118 judges who will distribute $148,000 in prize money and more than four miles of ribbons.

Millions of dollars worth of prize livestock goes on display, including 3,000 cattle, 5,000 poultry, 1,000 sheep and 700 swine.

Thursday, for the second year in a row, an Alberta teenager was named world wheat king as officials announced the final five world grain and seed championships.

Douglas Mackintosh of Granum, Alta., 19-year-old 4-H Club member, took the crown with an 18-pound sample of Chinook which he and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mackintosh, spent about 250 hours selecting.

A Manitoba farmer, Roland Devros of Bruxelles, won the oats crown with a Rodney sample.

World champions will be presented their prizes—$100, a trophy and a silver plate—Tuesday and fair officials hope many will be in Toronto for the ceremony.

When the weather's bad all over it don't seem as bad as it is—but it is.

Then there wuz th' anti-fluoridationist who thought fluorine w'd affect his bones—an' it went t' his head.

What's this? Canada's Conservative gov'mint votin' on th' French atomic test "with Russia an' against Britain"? Seems I heard that phrase aroun' Suez time.

Howling Storms Lash U.K. Coast

LONDON (Reuters)—Pelting rain driven by gale-force winds today washed away heavy fog that had covered wide areas of northwestern Europe Thursday.

Disturbed weather and forecasts of more to come were reported from Scotland to Rome.

Storms lashed the southwestern English coast and the northwestern coast of France. Winds of 104 miles an hour were recorded in Cornwall, and Brittany was battered by 95-mile-an-hour gusts. Gale warnings were issued to shipping in the eastern Atlantic, Irish Sea, North Sea and English Channel.

Typhoon Rips Havoc In Okinawa

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—Typhoon Emma blasted through Okinawa early today with winds of more than 110 miles an hour ripping roofs from houses, uprooting trees and causing landslides.

This city was flooded with water six feet deep in low-lying areas. Debris, mud and water soaked many shops, damaging thousands of dollars worth of merchandise.

No deaths or serious injuries were reported in the Naha area, but contact was broken with the northern part of the island where typhoon Charlotte last month killed 45 people.

The weather bureau in Tokyo said the storm was expected to pass 170 miles east of the main Japanese islands.

ROADS BLOCKED

Snow fell in Scotland and the English Midlands, blocking several roads. Rain, hail and snow swept as far south on the Continent as Italy.

The heavy weather on the North Sea hindered ships and aircraft searching for a British jet pilot believed to be on a rubber life raft off the Dutch coast.

The pilot, identified only as FO R. M. West, took off on Wednesday from the Allied air base at Jever, northwest Germany, on a training flight.

A distress signal was picked up from his Hunter jet fighter soon after taking off and weak signals believed to have originated from his life raft were picked up later.

SHIPPING HELD UP

Gales with gusts of nearly 60 miles an hour swept northwestern England today and caused delays to shipping in the Mersey River.

The 27,778-ton Cunard liner Britannia and the 25,585-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of England were unable to leave their berths in the Liverpool docks to embark passengers at the landing stage.

A lifeboat spokesman at Hastings, southern England, said rough seas prevented them from going out after receiving a report of a ship in distress about nine miles southeast of the town.

Intense Cold Along Rockies

DENVER (AP)—Intense cold that plunged temperatures to near-record lows locked the Rocky Mountain states in a wintry grip today on the heels of a 25-inch snowfall that buried Montana.

The temperature was 22 below zero today at Cut Bank, near the Montana-Alberta border.

Sub-zero readings were common from Montana south into Colorado along the eastern slope of the Rockies.

Four-Way Vote On Fluoridation

City Council Last in District To Order December Referendum

A Greater Victoria vote on fluoridation was clinched on Thursday when city council ordered a December referendum on the controversial issue.

A split vote among aldermen made the city the final municipality to order a referendum. Oak Bay and Saanich previously promised their residents a vote. Esquimalt council, after rejecting the proposal, changed its mind earlier this week.

Ald. Elmer McEwen, who argued against fluoridation; Ald. A. I. Curtis and Mayor

Percy Scurrell opposed a city referendum for this year.

Ald. M. H. Mooney, Ald. Geoffrey Edgell, Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald. D. J. Proudfoot and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson took the stand that the people are in a position to give their views and should be allowed to settle the question this December.

Fluoride Violent Poison—McEwen

Ald. McEwen, reading from what he called "the bible of the pharmaceutical world," described fluoride as a violent poison.

"No doctor has come to me as an individual and supported fluoridation. He will in the (medical) association, yes, because that's the only way he can keep his licence," he said.

He said council should not order a referendum unless it

U.K. FORCES EASE UP

No More Jankers For 'Orrible Men

LONDON (Reuters)—The British Army and the RAF today introduced a new and less-severe code of punishment as part of a long-range program to "humanize" the fighting forces.

The new measures, announced in the House of Commons Thursday night, abolish what British soldiers have known as "jankers," the traditional punishment for a wide range of lesser offences against discipline.

Jankers, or confinement to barracks, meant that a soldier could not leave base, had to answer a barrack roll call at regular intervals and had to peel potatoes and do other menial jobs during his spare time. Jankers sentences could run up to 42 days.

The new punishment is termed "restriction of privileges." A restricted soldier will have to answer only one roll call and will have to do less spare-time work. The maximum sentence will be 28 days.

War Secretary Christopher Soames told the House the old system had become "more an irritant than a corrective."

This change and others announced with it constitute a further attempt to render military service sufficiently attractive to enable Britain to switch from a conscript army to an entirely volunteer force in line with announced government policy.

The Canadian forces have a still less severe punishment system for minor offences than the new British plan.

Maximum sentences ran up to 14 days. The offender is confined to barracks and when not performing his normal duties is given extra fatigues and extra training.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

(From Times News Services)

BATH, Eng.—Someone called the Somerset branch of the People's Dispensary for Sick Animals Thursday to report a flock of sick pigeons.

A PDSA official investigated and found them exhibiting familiar symptoms. They performed backward somersaults while attempting to fly. They staggered. They tried to hop on one leg. They were bleary-eyed.

A bit of detective work revealed that the birds had spent the night in an open bin at a malt house, which supplies the local breweries, whooping it up on semi-fermented barley.

One or two were put into cages to sober up. The rest were removed to the decorous surroundings of Bath Abbey churchyard.

LOS ANGELES — Actor Darryl Hickman, 28, and actress Pamela Lincoln, 22, took out a marriage licence Thursday and said they would be married Nov. 22.

The couple said they met and became engaged during the filming of a horror movie — "The Tingler."

CLERKENWELL, Eng. — Magistrate T. F. Davis offered no consolation Thursday to a man who complained "My landlord swore at me in Greek."

"You can't swear in Greek," Davis replied. "It's a classical language."

MEADVILLE, Pa. — Fred Stevenson and his beagle hound went hunting Thursday. They roamed a wooded area of northwestern Pennsylvania all afternoon.

Stevenson failed to return at 5 p.m. to a home where he had been staying and a search party was formed.

About 10 p.m. one of the party spotted Stevenson walking along a country road. But it turned out he wasn't lost.

"Have you seen a beagle hound around? I've been looking for him all night," he said.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Rock 'n' roll entertainer Bo Diddley was grabbing autograph pads at his show here Thursday night, signing them fast and handing them back to their eager owners.

Then he stopped short. Instead of an autograph book, he had been handed a summons ordering him to answer a $5,000 breach of contract suit.

A Kingsport, Tenn., promoter charges that Bo turned up three hours late for a show and was too drunk to go on.

HARROW, England — Sir Winston Churchill came back to his old school Thursday night and burst into song.

"Forty years on . . ."

Some 600 schoolboys in black tailcoats and stiff white collars joined him lustily in the refrain.

It was Harrow's annual song night—an event Churchill never passes up.

He criticized the "strong-arm methods of the Chamber of Commerce" in promoting a referendum and said it was wrong for the chamber "to bombard every home in the city with letters and pamphlets at the expense of city taxpayers, because we gave them a $5,000 grant this year."

"Are we going to give money to those who oppose fluoridation for pamphlets?" (Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow later said the city gave the chamber only a $2,500 grant for a better business bureau.)

Ald. A. I. Curtis said he felt it was not fair to either side to schedule a referendum on short notice. Mayor Scurrah agreed with him.

But council agreed with Ald. Dowell who said the public had a democratic right to decide the issue. He added that after three years of controversy, he doubted that more time was needed for campaigning by either side.

OPINION ASKED
Council also passed a motion by Ald. Edgelow asking the B.C. Medical Association for an opinion on fluoridation which would be transmitted to voters without comment by council.

Council also received and filed a brief from Mrs. Lydia Arsen, president of the Victoria branch of the National Health Federation, opposing a referendum on the grounds that the public had not received enough information on the issue.

She also announced that two Seattle doctors will address a public meeting in the Crystal Garden Nov. 24 on fluoridation.

"To rush into something as serious as this can end only in disaster. I urge you all, before it is too late, to postpone the plebiscite for further study," she said.

PLANNING CHURCH MISSION

'No Trouble Here' Says 'Mom' Whyte

Ontario's famous "Mom" Whyte plans a non-denominational church mission at Nelson but is barred from operation of a full-scale children's home.

Meeting with provincial welfare authorities here Thursday she learned that B.C. law forbids anyone to keep more than five foster children. These must be placed by court order after the foster home is fully investigated.

BROOD SWELLED

Bertha "Mom" Whyte operated an unlicensed home for children at Bowmanville, Ont. Operating on the theory there is always room for one more, her brood swelled to 107, despite frequent clashes with Ontario welfare authorities. Last August, a court ruled the children were neglected and her famous "Whytehaven" operation was closed.

She has since obtained 25 acres near Nelson for a new Whytehaven Mission.

"We intend to establish headquarters in B.C., but I don't know what avenue we will take as yet," she said.

She said she will adhere to all B.C. laws in establishing a religious mission at Taghum, seven miles from Nelson.

"We intend to function as a church. Children are incidental to us. I expect no trouble at all with B.C. welfare."

Mrs. Whyte said she had no intention of operating a children's home when she started her work in Ontario, "but parents came to us for help."

Twelve adults and their 15 children from her Ontario mission will arrive soon in the interior to join Mrs. Whyte, she said.

IMPRESSED

Welfare officials here said they were impressed by Mrs. Whyte. She did not apply for any licence but was on a "fact-finding mission." She was given copies of pertinent acts and regulations.

"She's starting from scratch as far as this department is concerned. We would look at any application from a point of view of accommodation offered and her qualifications would be investigated the same as in the case of anyone else," one official said.

U.K.-FRENCH TALKS 'CORDIAL AND USEFUL'

PARIS (Reuters) — France and Britain are agreed on an East-West summit conference in April or May, Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville said today.

He was reporting to the cabinet on his two days of talks here with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. He said the talks had been "very cordial" and "very useful."

Lloyd said upon his return to London this morning that he was "impressed by the warmth and friendliness" shown to him in Paris.

Land Expropriation Law May Be Invalid

OTTAWA (CP) — The president of the Exchequer Court of Canada suggested Thursday in a formal judgment that every land expropriation case dealt with by the court may have been invalid.

Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson expressed this view in ruling in favor of an Ottawa woman contesting federal expropriation of her land, basing his remarks on an earlier finding of the Supreme Court of Canada in an 1883 case.

He said that if the expropriation Court's finding in the 1883 case is correct, "then every expropriation that this court has dealt with, at any rate since I have been a member of it, was invalid . . ."

He has been president of the court since 1942.

Mr. Justice Thorson indicated in his judgment that he is raising this question because of apparent conflicts in the Supreme Court ruling in the 1883 case and in order that the Supreme Court of Canada can resolve the problem.

He found in favor of Mrs. Florence Crawford who contested federal government expropriation of 59.5 acres in Gloucester Township near the capital. She sought $72,000 for the land and the government expropriated it for $28,000.

Commenting on the judgment, Prime Minister Diefenbaker told reporters that there should be a review of the Expropriation Act to ensure that the rights of individuals are protected. He said the judg-

"In reply to the federal minister's question, British Columbia suggested a choice of two approaches to this matter," said the premier.

First proposal he said, was that the federal government should continue the tax, but it should all be returned to the provinces. (One half has been returned since 1957.) The second B.C. proposal was that the tax should be cancelled, on the understanding that the companies benefitting from this remission would reduce their rates by the total amount, to be arranged by the Public Utilities Commission.

STUDY AGREED

"The federal government agreed to study and discuss these choices with the province at a later date," the premier added. He said there were no further submissions by his government. He had been opposed to holding the talks between the federal and provincial finance ministers in camera, he said, on grounds that a misunderstanding or distorted report "just such as this, might come out of the sessions."

The report to Mr. Strachan was made by Saskatchewan finance minister C. M. Fines.

"I am surprised to put it mildly, that one of those who voted for secrecy would now break the agreement," added Premier Bennett.

With respect to Mr. Strachan's interpretation, he said, "I've had enough of this dirty type of politics, these socialist politics."

But 35 minutes later he issued a formal statement saying:

"The questions asked me on this subject seemed to me directed at the legal rights along the borders, and my answers accordingly related only to the legality of the rival claims. There is the further and more important point that, whatever may be the merits of a dispute, force must not be used to settle it. The Chinese Communist regime has clearly used force and, in this respect, is wholly in the wrong."

UN STUDIES 'NUCLEAR CLUB' AS FRENCH TESTS OPPOSED

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The United Nations turned to a new phase of nuclear debate today after its political committee voted approval of an Afro-Asian resolution against French A-bomb tests in the Sahara.

Next on the agenda was an Ireland-requested item seeking to limit nuclear arms to those countries now possessing them, a topic related in some respects to the question of French nuclear tests—on which the final UN say has yet to be heard.

Thursday's committee vote was 46 to 26 with 10 abstentions, recommending that the 14th General Assembly request France to refrain from its first nuclear weapons experiment. The resolution was a revised version of a draft sponsored by 22 Afro-Asian states led by Morocco.

The United States and Britain supported the French side and Canada voted against them—for the resolution. Ambassador Charles S. A. Ritchie said Canada found the decision difficult in view of its ancestral relationships and alliances with France, but could not reverse its consistent policy against nuclear tests by any country.

U.S. MAY END BAN ON BLASTS

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States Thursday warned it may resume nuclear tests within a matter of weeks after the current suspension runs out Dec. 31 unless Russia agrees to an international ban.

State Secretary Christian A. Herter told a press conference he would not favor any "lengthy moratorium" of the one-year suspension, called while the U.S., Russia and other countries attempt to negotiate a workable ban which can be controlled through international inspection.

U.S. Promises 'Moral Aid' For India

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has assured India of its moral backing in a border dispute with Red China.

State Secretary Christian Herter, who first told a press conference Thursday that the U.S. was taking no sides, later issued a statement saying the Red Chinese, in using force, were "wholly in the wrong." This was given to the Indian Embassy here and dispatched to the U.S. Embassy in New Delhi.

President Eisenhower is scheduled to go to New Delhi on a goodwill mission within a month. Officials were afraid that unless Herter's remarks were clarified, resentment against the U.S. might sour the president's visit.

Replying to questions, Herter said the U.S. has no way of knowing directly whether India or Red China is right in the disputed territorial claims, and has taken no sides on the issue.

WRONG TO USE FORCE

But 35 minutes later he issued a formal statement saying:

"The questions asked me on this subject seemed to me directed at the legal rights along the borders, and my answers accordingly related only to the legality of the rival claims. There is the further and more important point that, whatever may be the merits of a dispute, force must not be used to settle it. U.S. Officials In Conflict On Gas Treaty

WASHINGTON (CP) — The chairman and vice-chairman of the U.S. Federal Power Commission today expressed countering views on the need of a treaty between Canada and the United States to ensure a steady flow of natural gas and other energy needs across the border.

Disputes Hit Labor In Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — Some 7,500 workers in key British industries are on strike or laid off in a new wave of labor disputes.

A one-hour token strike by door-hangers at the Doncaster factory of the Ford Motor Company in the Midlands ended Thursday with a complete shutdown of production at noon.

Fog-bound London airport was hit by a walkout of about 300 British European Airways tarmac workers.

A strike by 432 men at a Glasgow nuclear engineering plant was "crippling most of the factory," according to a management official.

Talks between Liverpool harbor officials and union leaders of 500 striking laborers on the port's £17,000,000 ($47,600,000) modernization project broke down after two hours.

Antarctic Expedition

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia's fifth Antarctic expedition left Leningrad in the diesel-electric ship Ob Thursday and hopes to reach the shores of Antarctica in about a month, Tass news agency reported. Expedition will carry out geological, geographical, meteorological and other research.

'Greatest—Ever' Boom for Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Thursday that 1959 will be Canada's greatest year thus far, economically, adding that next year will be just as bright.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that when the Progressive Conservatives took office nearly 2½ years ago, the government "found the most astonishing evidence, far beyond what we had expected, of the shocking result of the careless inaction of the Liberal administration. "It has taken us 2½ years to begin to catch up."

HUGE DEFICITS

Mr. Diefenbaker, referring to budgetary deficits of $609,000,000 in 1958-59 and the forecast $393,000,000 for the year ending next March 31, said they are "an integral part of our fiscal and social justice policy."

He said the steps the government has taken were in the fulfillment of pledges his party made to the people of Canada. "Furthermore, the extra payments for social justice put more purchasing power in the hands of consumers and helped to take Canada out of the recession."

"The current year," Mr. Diefenbaker said, "will be the greatest economically in our history. The outlook for the year ahead is equally bright—but we must not let up in our endeavors."

"Some have expressed concern about the effect of the deficits on our national debt.

But both favored high staff liaison between the commission and the newly-formed national energy board in Canada. This liaison was recommended by Canada's Borden commission on energy.

Vice-Chairman William R. Connole said in an interview that he would like to see a treaty worked out between the two countries for the establishment of a joint energy commission, operating somewhat along the lines of the international joint commission dealing with boundary waters.

He suggested this international body would be valuable in regulating or policing gas and other energy matters throughout the life of the agreements, particularly on such things as price and quantity changes.

LOSE POWER

However, Jerome K. Kuykendall, chairman of the five-man commission, said he didn't think that a treaty is necessary at this time.

"A treaty might be the ideal way of doing things, but in this case it might mean adding delay in processing cases," he said in an interview.

He observed that the international joint commission dealings with boundary waters can only make recommendations to the governments of the two countries. The power commission has authority actually to issue import permits for energy contracts. The setting up of a joint energy commission, he said, might water down his commission's authority to issue import permits.

There would have been greater concern if we had not acted as we did to end the recession. The speed and vigor of the recovery is adding greatly to the income of the people of Canada. It is also adding substantially to the income of the government."

MUSIC
The pipes of Pan—the mythical ancient Greek god who played on musical pipes—have become a modern and universal symbol of music.
As Grant's Stand Fast strikes a responsive chord with so many, many people, the pipes of Pan could be a symbol for this pleasing Scotch—the Scotch that is recognized by its tall triangular bottle and remembered for its recognizable distinctive flavour.

DARING ENGINEER CORRALS RUNAWAY MONSTER

'Ghost Train' Roars Unmanned Through Night

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — An unmanned 3,800-pound diesel locomotive crept out of a Jersey City freight yard Thursday night and thundered down the tracks for 22 miles before it was stopped.

Apparently the diesel had been left standing with its brake applied and its throttle open. A Jersey Central Railroad spokesman said that somehow the brakes failed to hold.

Yardmen looked up from their work, aware that this was an unscheduled engine movement. Their surprise changed to horror when they saw there was no human hand at the throttle.

Frantically, the railroad men stopped some scheduled trains and rerouted others.

From Jersey City the diesel flashed southward, through heavily populated Bayonne and across the Newark Bay drawbridge. This bridge was the scene of a Jersey Central train wreck in 1958 that killed 48.

Then officials swung another engine into service in a bold move to stop the runaway before it went any further. The idea was to run a second engine ahead of the runaway, then allow it to catch up to effect a gentle coupling.

Assigned to the delicate task was engineer Chester Gudmonson. He matched speeds with the runaway, then stopped it with his own engine's brakes.

Challenge of the College

VICTORIA COLLEGE HAS chosen a top-flight man to head its development fund campaign.

Mr. R. B. "Dick" Wilson has had the experience and has proved his capabilities for such a job. He can count on full support from all those who wish to see the institution provide the buildings it needs to meet the university status it has attained.

The task before him represents a big challenge. The college needs $1.5 million through private subscriptions, to be matched by a like amount from the Provincial Government and supplemented by $300,000 from the Canada Council.

The total is formidable. It is not impossible provided all those individuals and agencies which believe in the virtues of higher education work energetically for it.

The ultimate goal has been indicated by Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, who has underscored his endorsement of the campaign by pointing out that Victoria provides the "ideal climate for a liberal arts college... which could be the best of its kind in Canada."

That is the assessment made by one of the nation's leading educationists and a man familiar with the character of this city.

In more material terms, the creation of the larger institution will establish a major "industry" in the capital. A successful university here will mean cash income to those renting quarters to students and faculty, to those selling supplies from food to academic equipment, and to the ancillary services which grow up around a university.

As preparations proceed for the approach to the public, one point must be recognized above all others. The magnitude of the campaign is such that it can succeed only through unqualified support from all sections of the community, as well as assistance from outside parts, and through the whole-hearted efforts of those engaged in it.

Who Said It Was Cloudy?

A LOCAL RADIO STATION, ON an early morning newscast Thursday, reported that Victoria was "cloudy" and that the Gonzales temperature was 40 degrees, six degrees lower than that downtown.

A glance outside the window would have revealed predominantly blue skies and every indication of a sunny, pleasant fall day. We do not blame the radio station for this; it merely reads the reports as transmitted from the wire services or meteorological station.

The discrepancy between the Gonzales reading and the true temperature of the city proper is, nevertheless, a source of continuing irritation and one which undoubtedly costs Victoria thousands of dollars in lost tourist business annually.

The Gonzales station, as every resident knows, is perched atop a rocky promontory where it is buffeted by every chilling breeze from across the strait, while Greater Victoria is sheltered by an encircling range of mountains and hills. The discrepancy between readings at Gonzales and in the downtown area frequently amounts to five or more points.

Unhappily, it is the lower, "official" reading which is broadcast to the nation—and it gives a distorted picture of Victoria's true temperature.

Everyone who lives here knows that Victoria has the most equable climate in Canada. But this is more than a matter of civic pride. The would-be visitor on the icy prairies, concluding that Victoria has about the same temperature as Vancouver, Abbotsford, Nanaimo and Estevan (from the "official" figures) doubtless thinks in terms of rain, fog, frost and chill, and stays away.

If he could be here today—on this day of "cloud" and 40 degrees—he could play golf, go sailing, or tend his roses. Why can't we get out the truth in this matter?

Credit and Discredit

BOTH MR. DIFENBAKER AND Mr. Fleming have sought to escape their share of responsibility for the current money shortage by blaming the banks instead of Government borrowings. The finance minister has added detail to his accusation by quoting some figures which purport to show that the chartered banks have greatly increased their commitments for loans to large borrowers. This, he says, has tied up money which could have been available for small borrowers and has thus contributed heavily to the tight money situation.

Mr. Fleming's figures are worth a second look.

At the end of June, 1957, he says, the banks had established lines of credit (for borrowers of more than $100,000) totalling $3,864 millions. Of this amount, $2,130 millions was out on loan. By the end of June, the figures were $4,763 millions and $2,125 millions respectively.

From this Mr. Fleming argues that the "commitments" to large borrowers, having increased by nearly $900 millions, are depriving small borrowers of needed funds, since the banks must keep these committed reserves on hand to meet demand.

This, however, is not the case. The banks are not required to maintain reserves equal to the lines of credit they have granted and it is not their practice to do so. Their extension of lines of credit—which are merely statements of the limit to which the bank thinks a potential borrower's credit may be safely granted—is therefore not to be blamed for the present situation. And as regards loans actually granted to large borrowers, Mr. Fleming's own figures show these to have decreased by $5 millions during the two years.

Two possibilities are at once apparent. Mr. Fleming knows that lines of credit do not tie up bankers' reserves, and his accusation is therefore insincere, to say the least. Or he does not know this simple fact of banking practice, which leaves his knowledge of finance in doubt. Which will Mr. Fleming choose?

Let Oak Bay Vote on Indemnities

REEVE GEORGE MURDOCH and some of his councillors are differing in public—a rare development in Oak Bay municipal politics—on the question of indemnities.

The issue has assumed the proportions of a matter of principle. The amount of money is negligible. But since it is a question of principle now, perhaps the best way to settle the matter would be to have the people vote for or against honorariums at next month's poll.

Certainly the dispute should not become a source of friction in a council which traditionally has prided itself on gentlemanly conduct and efficient cohesion.

provision would encourage other good men to seek municipal office and would compensate for the out-of-pocket expenses incurred in being a member of the council.

Who's Going to Teach What to Whom?

THE SPORTS PAGE WRITERS tell us that Australia is going to have to learn a new "language" when golfers Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff begin to tour the fairways down under.

They quote Mr. Snead: "I no sooner hit the track than I banana ball one into jail, simply because I'm trying to make like a Canadian kid. I can't get onto the pipeline so I wind up with trombones."

That's a description of an afternoon's play.

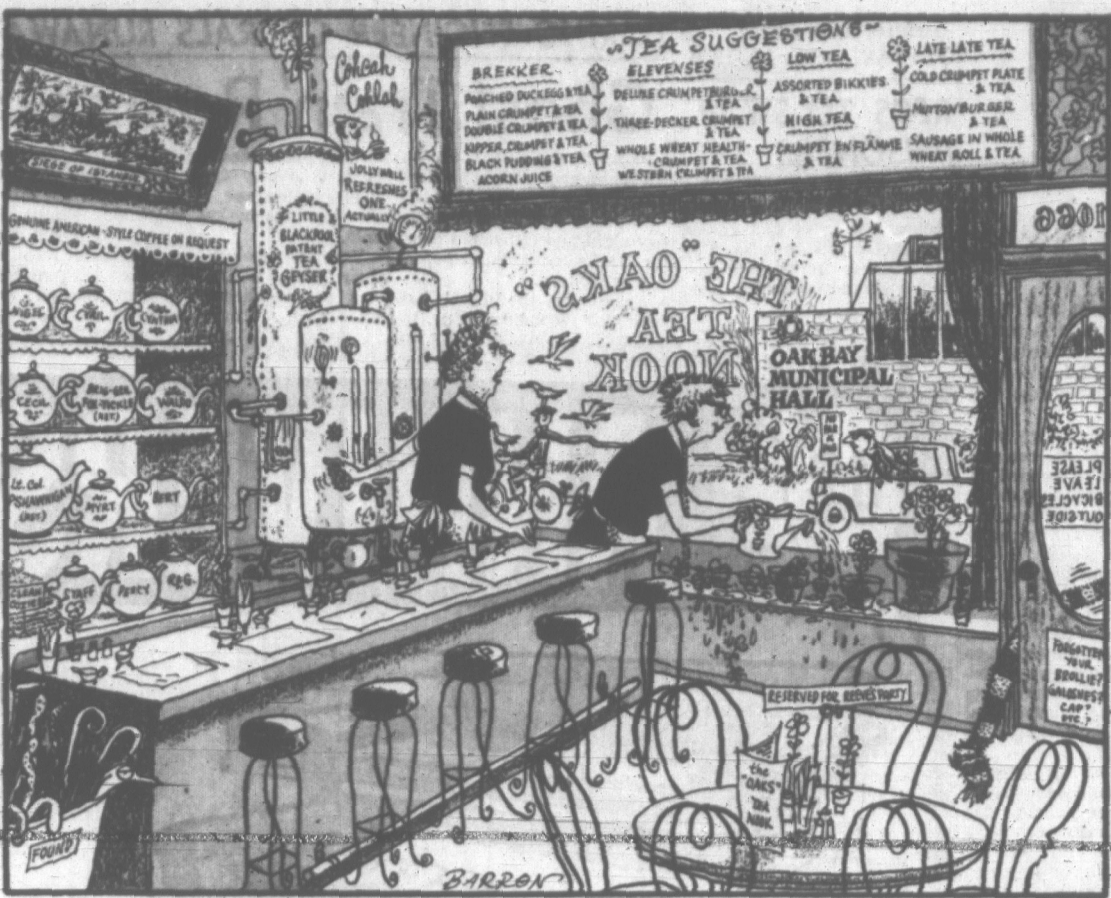

The sports page may be right.

Certainly Mr. Snead and Mr. Middlecoff dig a mean verbal divot when it comes to phrasing their games in their own vernacular. They'll probably be understood no better by an Australian than by the ordinary man in the street on this continent.

But it isn't going to be a one-sided demonstration of vocal cryptography, no sir! The Australians can carve neat incision in language, too.

Remember? "Once a jolly swagman camped by a billabong..."

Who's going to teach what to whom?

"It's so difficult to gauge the strength of the tea during this remuneration row... they may be needing it extra strong again today..."

SUMMING UP THE NATION

From the Man Who Spoke to Us and for Us

"Speaking of Canada," by Vincent Massey. 1956. 244 pp. Macmillan Company of Canada.

TELEVISION audiences across Canada tonight will have an opportunity to see and hear Vincent Massey, the man who made political history by being Canada's first Canadian Governor-General, and cultural history by furthering this country's progress in the arts in a way that no other individual has done.

Tobin

More truthfully, he is what the typical Canadian may be like when he has achieved a much heavier veneer of civilization, when the frontier of rain forest, prairie grass and snowy peak is another generation in the past.

Although he represented the Sovereign in Canada, Mr. Massey, by reason of his background, inevitably represented Canada to the rest of the world. A not outstandingly articulate nation thus obtained a highly articulate spokesman.

Few men in high office have Mr. Massey's command of English, still fewer could add his proficiency in French. A high degree of literacy and a high position in the world of statecraft are seldom so admirably combined. With his ability to express himself, Mr. Massey enjoys another great advantage. He has thoughts to express.

In One Volume

A reflection of both these qualities has fortunately been preserved. From the many speeches that he delivered during the nearly eight years he served as Governor-General, Mr. Massey has selected more than two score for publication. The result is a volume of Canadian thought, Canadian information and Canadian viewpoints which will crystallize for many citizens of this country ideas which they "oft have thought but ne'er so well expressed."

Mr. Massey has mastered the difficult arts of presenting well-known truths without resorting to cliché, of being patriotic without becoming jingoistic, of expressing sentiment at banquets without risk of being maudlin.

If these are not readily recognized as outstanding feats, examine more closely the last few offerings you have heard from a platform or read in text.

It is especially important that these things should have been said in Canada during these years, equally important that they should be read and remembered during the years to come. Few countries in the world experience Canada's dual position—a part of Britain and France by heritage and history, a part of North America by geography.

Under a Deluge

The latter fact means proximity to the United States, which pours its stream of twentieth century materialistic culture unendingly on us to merge with the stream of history which we have inherited. Set these forces to acting upon a population of a few millions spread across half a continent, and the wonder is that anything distinctively Canadian has ever evolved.

But something has evolved, and the descriptive genius of Vincent Massey has caught it. Those who sense the growth of a national character here recognize that it is something worthy, something that deserves encouragement at home and a place in the world.

This book will help to preserve what has been achieved; it will help to make more concrete the intangible gains and anchor them in the bed of the North American torrent.

It was to a London audience that Mr. Massey said in 1953: "It is now, I believe, true that the nation is prepared to regard painting and music and letters as national activities, along with forestry, manufacturing, wheat-growing and mining; that universities as well as railways are looked on as institutions of national importance; that the author of a great book is worthy of national recognition."

And again: "Without the development of the mind and the spirit, we may have mass and weight, but we can have neither shape nor direction. Without these things nations may listen to us, but they will hear little, for we shall have little to say."

A Modern Symptom

In the same year, at Toronto, he said: "The neglect of the humanities in present-day education is doubtless not a cause but a symptom of an age. But any symptom which aggravates the sickness, as this one does, must be treated as a malady in its own right."

That was an answer to Sputnik, before Sputnik was even launched.

What better advice has been given to us than this, delivered in Montreal in 1955: "A good Canadian, may I suggest, must embrace in his care not only the virtues of his country but also its faults, and he must make it his business to know and to attend to them."

And at Fort Langley last year, as British Columbia celebrated its centenary: "Indirectly, it is true, but none the less certainly the principles of honesty and justice, of law and order in what became Canada, were the products of parliamentary government, and of parliamentary give and take. I emphasize this because it is our tradition and peculiarly our tradition. It explains what makes and keeps us a little different from the rest of North America—a little different even from the powerful neighbor whom we admire and imitate so much."

There, in brief, is what we have won and what we must keep.

Place for a Park

Ref. the second half of the editorial Saanich Moves Forward in your paper.

There is a small area of land on the east side of Douglas Street overlooking Swan Lake. This parcel and as much more as possible should be bought and tidied up for park and playground purposes. Being close to the bus line it could easily be reached by elderly people and the carless ones. The bird life on and around the lake is interesting and the long view is very attractive.

Here is a proposition that if taken up by yourselves, Chamber of Commerce, Service Club or Capital City, Improvement people would at once beautify a centre of greater Victoria and make it a healthful rendezvous for people of all ages.

Breath of Fresh Air

The discussion by the panel on the purpose of education, held under the auspices of the Vancouver Island Secondary Schools Association in convention here recently, seemed like a breath of fresh air to me after all the publicity we have had in the press and in magazines about juvenile delinquency.

The church, the school, the social agencies, the press, all want to do something about it. But what?

The ideas brought forward by the panelists were good. Are there other ways besides to meet the situation? Every means of righting things should be explored.

Mr. Stuart Keate referred to the great movement for moral re-armament now going on all over the world. I wonder if he knows about a play written out of their own experience by some young people in Moral Re-Armament, giving an answer to some of their problems. This play "The New American" has already been presented "live" in some West Coast American cities with amazing results.

If you would like to see the film and judge for yourself, why not write to CBC Vancouver, or your favorite TV station, asking to have it shown.

A Few Cutting Remarks

It's about time something was done to kill the monopoly legislation created by the Liberal or Coalition government about 12 years ago when unnecessary class legislation was passed, not in the best interests of the people. The present government should take a second look at it.

The present setup is in restraint of trade-free enterprise, an expert barber coming from other Canadian provinces is not permitted to cut hair in B.C. He is at the mercy of a small clique who can restrict the number of barbers allowed to operate, that sort of legislation cuts into our fundamental liberties and prevents healthy competition.

I see Brandon, Man., decided to cut haircuts back from $1.25 to $1. We didn't see any barbers here even holding out to charge $1.25. Four cuts an hour at $1.50; $48 a day, $240 a week, $1,080 a month, working eight hours, five days. It's not our fault if they don't work full time.

70 per cent and more of the people simply cannot afford to pay $1.50. They are outraged.

They have a closed "profession" like the doctors and dentists which for barbers is quite unnecessary.

The barbers had better put themselves back into public favor and start really competing with one another.

The Great Leap

By JOSEPH ALSOP
From Hong Kong

THIS IS the bizarre story of Hard-scrabble District in Big Remittance county in the year of Chinese Communism's "great leap forward," as told by Chief Clerk Cheng.

For necessary reasons, all the names are invented. But the sharp, witty young man I have called Cheng had just abandoned his Chief Clerkship when I found him here. He had no inducement to invent or ornament. He was closely questioned for six solid hours without falling into any discrepancy. And so I believe his tale, although it strikes almost the note of the first part of Joseph Mitchell's classic, "When Fascism Came to Black Ankle County."

Just to finish introducing him, Chief Clerk Cheng was a Fukien man—the son of one of the home-dwelling wives of the overseas Chinese, whose remittances to their families used to make up a big percentage of the local income.

Being rich, mother Cheng had a large house. Being large, the house attracted Hard-scrabble District's Party Secretary.

By "great leap forward" young Cheng got a job in Hard-scrabble District's combined party-and-government office as soon as he finished school.

New Campaign

The year of the "great leap forward," 1958, opened auspiciously for Hard-scrabble District with a brand new "anti-superstition campaign."

In that flat part of coastal Fukien, the people have nowhere else to put their dead, so they have always buried them in tillable land. Now the grave mounds were to be flattened for tillage.

Those who wished to keep their ancestors' bones somewhere else were graciously allowed to buy large pottery jars for the purpose, but no families that did not get remittances could pay the few cents the jar cost.

"The people minded the graves being taken as they minded food being taken," said Chief Clerk Cheng. "But Party Secretary Li and his deputy both came from another district—the Party Secretaries always do—and Li had his target to fulfill."

So the militia were ordered to force the desecration of the graves at gunpoint. The unhousehold bones were burned for fertilizer. The local temples of the earth godlings were thrown down for good measure. And Hard-scrabble plunged onward into its next high-powered campaign, to collect for the state all the thin gold and poor silver ornaments of the people.

By then the spring was passing, and it was time for Hard-scrabble District's mightiest contribution to the great leap, the grand campaign to make iron and steel in the backyard. Even Party Secretary Li was somewhat agast when he got his secret instructions—Hard-scrabble had a little source of iron ore, so his target was set horribly high.

But when he called the people to the work, he boldly announced that they would "overfulfill this target by 160 per cent." And nothing, literally nothing was spared for this purpose from the first day when the county government sent down its alleged experts to show Hard-scrabble District how to build its own blast furnace.

Endless Hours

With bricks from the graves and ruined temples, the furnace was painfully built. The generator of the district rice mill was seized upon, to drive the furnace's fan. "Counter-revolutionary" elements were made to work for endless extra hours, cutting and carting the district's last stands of wood for fuel.

Doors, window frames, even house beams were added to the fuel pile. As an extra touch, the ancestor tablets were used to start the slow fire that converted the wood into charcoal.

Through all the daylight hours, most of the district's women dug ore from the ore source and cleaned it and broke it up. Iron bedsteads from the rich-house, doorknobs and nails from the houses of the poor were all collected. For three months the people worked at little else in daytime.

Thus the fields were mostly ploughed and seeded and cared for in darkness, by the light of lamps. "Even so," said Chief Clerk Cheng, "Party Secretary Li was not really contented. He never overfulfilled his target by more than 130 per cent."

And how was this target overfulfilled? At this question, Chief Clerk Cheng burst out laughing.

Many Tons

Tons of steel, tons of iron, and tons of cast iron were called for. The "steel" ingots were those made by melting down the bedsteads and the like, with not much mixture of other metals. The "iron" and "cast iron" were made by crude smelting of the waste leaves and adding any other substance that had a metallic ring to it.

When just about all the metal and all the fuel in the entire district had been consumed in this manner, Party Secretary Li said the great success must be celebrated. A parade was formed to carry the output of the furnace to the county government office, with children with drums and banners leading the way.

After that, "Party Secretary Li made another speech saying we must now turn to even more important work; and the blast-furnace was forgotten, and so were the bits of metal it produced. In fact they were still piled up outside the county government building four months later, when I saw them there."

Thus Chief Clerk Cheng ended that part of the story. The great leap forward had already cost the Hard-scrabble people their ancestors' graves, their bits of jewels, their temples, and a good part of their summer harvest, which was half ruined by enforced neglect.

But that was only the beginning, for Hard-scrabble District had already become a "People's Commune" before the tragicomic little parade to celebrate the blast furnace's simultaneous success and abandonment.

They're Not All Vikings

MR. David Michael, who recovered his missing cruiser across the Strait and brought it to Victoria Tuesday evening, has a story that concerns every boatman in this community.

He is warm in his praise of the assistance he received from the United States Coast Guard people. They couldn't have been more helpful, he says.

When he finally regained possession of his craft and after all the red tape had been unravelled, he started home across the Strait.

About a mile and one-half out from Victoria's harbor he ran into difficulties. Darkness had fallen. His boat was partly disabled. He encountered obstructions.

The situation impressed him so much that he fired four flares, trying to attract attention and to summon help from this side. No help came. He limped in to port.

Mr. Michael makes an honest admission. He says he is not too familiar with boats and he does not know the waters off Victoria.

There is a law which should keep people who don't know boats and don't know the waters out of situations such as that in which Mr. Michael found himself. It's called the law of survival and it cautions them to stay ashore.

With the weather conditions at the rate it has been for the last four or five years, that law is being honored more in the breach than the observance.

Because this is a fact, and because there are so many people who step into attractive new craft with all the assurance of people slipping behind the steering wheel of a car, the old conventions which prevailed around the waterfront are put under severe strain.

It is the unwritten rule of the sea that a craft in distress should be given all the help humanly possible by others competent to render aid. The demands on the competent grow heavier when a vast population goes marine and unwittingly invites dangers which more experienced boatmen would have avoided.

There is a balancing factor. Modern boats with vastly improved motors do not break down as often as the old kickers of another age. But there's an accompanying hazard even in that development.

Stott

In an earlier day, small power boats usually carried oars or sail. If the engine conked out you could put out your sweeps and at least head into the wind if you couldn't get home, or you could mount your canvas and use the breeze to head for shore. Nowadays it's quite common to equip outboards with paddles. And paddling a modern boat is a lot harder than propelling a canoe through the water.

These are points which Mr. Michael's dilemma emphasizes. It may be true enough that he shouldn't have been where he was if he was not adept in a boat and did not know the water.

The fact is that he was there. And it is a reasonable assumption that there will be dozens like him caught in similar situations in the future.

It is also true that his flares could have escaped notice when he fired them to summon help. Not everyone around the waterfront can recognize a distress flare even when he sees one, and as far as I know, there is no organized body kept continually on the alert to watch for such signals.

We find ourselves in a new age in boating, just as we found ourselves in a new traffic situation when the automobile became popular. There was a time when a motorist donned his goggles and duster to sail forth on the adventure of a car ride. If he broke down, he either had to fix his own machine or summon somebody with a team to haul him in.

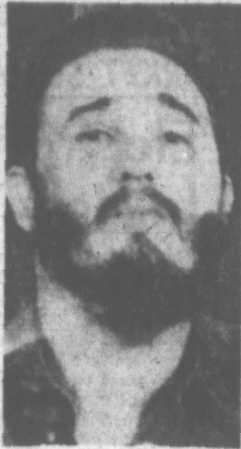

Now we have a whole traffic department, as well as service stations, to look after the motorist in trouble.

Has the time arrived when we need the same on the water?

As the trend goes it seems obvious that we will have more and more people taking to recreation afloat in their own small craft. It seems obvious also that some of them will not be as competent as they should be.

We have an air-sea rescue service that does some very good work. But is its scope broad enough?

The United States has a full coast guard and its efficiency has been proved time and again. Do we need the same here? And do we also need an examining board to insist on minimum competency in boat handling as we have an examining board to grant or refuse an individual the right to drive an automobile?

FIDEL CASTRO

MAJOR DIDN'T DESERT, HE CRASHED IN SEA

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro says he believes his army commander, Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, crashed into the sea north of Cuba and has angrily denounced rumors that Cienfuegos may have deserted the Cuban revolution.

The 28-year-old army commander, one of Castro's closest associates from the beginning of the revolution, vanished Oct. 28 after leaving troubled Camaguey Province for a 300-mile plane flight to Havana. No trace of him or his plane has ever been found in the extensive search directed by Castro himself.

Cienfuegos' disappearance spawned some rumors that he had been kidnapped as a hostage for persons jailed by the Castro regime, but "Cienfuegos was not one to allow himself to be kidnapped," Castro said.

The defection rumors were part of a "diabolical intrigue" to discredit the Cuban revolution.

ROUGH DAYS FOR REVOLUTION

'Rats Will Leave the Ship'

SECURITY FORCES HUNT AFRICAN RIOT LOOTERS

USUMBARA, Ruanda-Urundi (Reuters)—Bands of looters today were reported operating in the mountainous East African kingdom of Ruanda, where a state of emergency was declared Thursday.

The looters, who are complicating an already serious situation caused by inter-tribal warfare, have set fire to native huts and prevented old people escaping the flames.

Security forces are hunting the looters "from hill to hill," the Belgian News Agency reported.

HAVANA (AP)—Looking grim and haggard, Fidel Castro told the Cuban people early today that his revolution faces difficult days.

The bearded premier took only a few minutes in the United States—usually his favorite target—but lashed out in a three-hour telecast at his enemies at home and called them "hypocrites who once posed as friends of the revolution."

"Rats are going to abandon the ship when things get rougher," he declared. "This is going to remind me of the bad days of the revolution when many gave up the fight."

WILL MARCH ON

But he predicted that the revolution would march on even if his enemies "try to mobilize God against us."

"This won't work, because one cannot have a good idea of God if one doesn't have a notion of what it is to love his neighbor."

Obviously weary from his long hours of directing the search for his missing army chief, the 33-year-old Castro showed only occasional flashes of his usual fire and spirit. At times his customarily free-flowing oratory lapsed as if he were grasping for a word.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

The Time Is Ripe

NEW YORK—Establishment of an international security system has long been a Canadian dream but in the past two years comparatively little had been heard from Canada about it. Now, Canada has once again come behind the idea to try to give it a nudge forward.

Wallace Nesbitt, the Canadian deputy leader at the UN has suggested that the reasons for earlier failure may no longer obtain and that the time may have arrived to re-examine the idea. He suggested that the newly-formed 10-nation disarmament committee conduct this re-examination at the meetings which will begin early next year.

It has been suggested that the earlier Canadian silence on this question was politically motivated. Since Lester Pearson is in favor of a police force, the Conservatives were assumed to oppose it.

Perhaps there is an element of truth in this assumption—the Conservatives would hardly be human if they didn't have reservations about an idea so closely associated with the former government and so closely associated with that government's Suez policy which they opposed so bitterly.

There is, however, much more to it than this. The fact is that many nations have been highly suspicious about the idea of a police force and Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld himself has reservations.

Mr. Hammarskjöld has stated that circumstances differ in each situation and different responses must be worked out. What was successful in Korea would not have worked in Suez. The Suez formula would not have worked in Lebanon. Lebanon wouldn't have worked in Jordan. Jordan wouldn't have worked in Laos, and so on.

On the other hand Mr. Hammarskjöld felt last year that it would be a good idea to review the experience gained in these operations and to clarify the principles behind the operation of international forces. Even this modest proposal ran into surprising opposition, however, especially in Asia, and the debate was cancelled.

This year, however, the situation is markedly different. The Communists are less suspicious and the Asians are more frightened. With regard to Asian fears, it's worth noting that India's Krishna Menon once said that the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization is simply a new instrument for the perpetuation of western domination.

Today domination is threatened from a new direction and outside security arrangements suddenly look much more attractive, whereas last year the Asians expressed outspoken opposition. This year several have spoken in favor of international security arrangements and virtually no opposition has been expressed.

Mr. Nesbitt pointed out that the original attempts to set up a security system "collapsed" 12 years ago for political and technical reasons. He was referring to discussions in which both sides put forward grandiose proposals involving battleships, squadrons of aircraft and divisions of soldiers.

The world wasn't ready however and the talks degenerated into futile arguments such as how many Russian foot soldiers are equal to one western aircraft carrier.

Today the nations are older, sadder, and wiser and there is reason to hope that they might be able to make some small advance, especially in the field of observation and supervisory duties. Some advance thinking could be done, some advance planning, which would simplify and expedite emergency action.

There is also another thought behind Canadian thinking. This is the realization that a sizeable corps of men now have experience in international police duties—several hundred Canadians alone. Furthermore the Canadian Government has an organizational structure designed to permit quick action in mobilizing police forces.

The Canadian Government feels that it would be a serious loss if this system were allowed to dissolve, if thinking and planning were allowed to become out dated.

Ever since 1945 the Canadians have supported this idea and no nation has done more toward realizing it. Recently, however, a number of nations, including the United States and Britain, have taken up the idea and it seemed that the Canadians might be out-dreamed with their own dream.

Now however the Canadians have spoken out and perhaps the time has come when some small forward step might be taken to permit international peace to be formed more quickly. Perhaps the nations might even think about appointing a sheriff.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Electronics Gain In New York Trading

Some electronics experienced big gains on the New York market today. Overall the exchange moved unevenly.

Amper was ahead about five, Motorola about three and General Electric about two. Steel paced a downward trend in the major steelmakers. American Motors declined a point or so, General Motors and Chrysler eased. Ford gained a fraction.

Toronto market was lower today but trading was heavier. Industrials and western oils were off. There was little change in base metals and golds.

AT TORONTO, Loblaw Inc., on a single sale, jumped 2 1/2 points in industrials, but Dominion Stores dropped 2 1/2 points to 52 in moderate trading.

New Companies May Set Record B.C. Power Must Get More Scope

There have been as many new companies formed in B.C. in the last seven years as in the previous 25, B.C. Trade Minister Robert Bonner said Thursday.

He expects a new record to be set this year, as 2,707 incorporations occurred in the first ten months.

The minister said 19,000 companies have been formed since 1952.

This is mandatory if the government-owned agency is to avoid deficits this year, he said. He was commenting on a talk by B.C.P.C. information director Lance H. Whittaker, Tuesday, who said the current year's operation may result in a deficit of up to $500,000—the first in the commission's history.

"I realize that to implement the policies I have outlined would mean a complete reversal of present government policy," said Mr. Strachan. "But only such a policy would make power available to our industry and people at the lowest possible cost."

Ike Recalls Fact-Finders In Steel Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, trying to head off renewal of the crippling steel strike this winter, recalled his fact-finders Wednesday and ordered them to help find a peace formula.

Announcing the action, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower "trusts that both sides will recognize their responsibilities to the United States and will continue negotiations and reach a settlement as soon as possible."

The three-man fact-finding panel was instructed to co-operate with the federal mediation service.

The president took the step as steel mills gradually returned to normal under an 80-day truce ordered by the federal courts. More than half of the 500,000 steel workers were back at work under a Taft-Hartley law injunction. The rest were expected on the job by the weekend.

Federal mediation chief Joseph P. Finnegan indicated he and the board will begin new settlement efforts in about two weeks.

CNR Appointment

WINNIPEG—H. C. Russell has been appointed general superintendent for Canadian National Express western division, including British Columbia, it has been announced.

Mr. Russell succeeds F. V. Clare who has retired.

Formerly employee relations officer for CN express at Montreal, Mr. Russell has 16 years express experience in western Canada. He joined CN at Saskatoon 36 years ago.

HOBERT CULTVERTS EXPANSION

Mr. W. E. Stracey, General Manager of Hoberth Cultverts & Metal Products Ltd., has announced an expansion of the company's plant facilities located at Sault Ste. Marie, B.C.

Work has commenced on approximately 10,000 square feet of new black-topped storage, handling and shipping area which will be served by a railway siding as well as have accommodation for truck loading.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trade was on quiet lines today on the Winnipeg grain exchange with most prices showing a firm tone.

Some buying appeared in flax with buying by international interests and commission house selling.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all 1/2 cent higher than Thursday.

Other grains and soybeans were steady to firm most of the day in a slow trading.

Wheat also derived some strength from word that India has been authorized to buy 110,000,000 bushels of U.S. wheat and 4,000,000 of feed grains as part of its new five-year plan.

Book Boys Back on Beam

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

The book boys are beating the bushes of Greater Victoria these days with greater vigor and zeal than ever before.

After a short vacation, local householders are being beset by representatives of a publishing house.

The sales pitch: "Pick four (or five) magazines from our list and enjoy them all on the time payment plan."

Their proposition contains no particular fly in the ointment.

But these facts remain:

1. Invariably a single subscription to any of the magazines offered can be purchased—for cash—at slightly below the price offered by the door-to-door bashers; and,

2. In the four (or five) magazines you must select to get the benefit of time payment there are usually two or three "dogs."

The "dogs," in this case, usually lack pedigree—or quality. Offered individually they rarely find much public acceptance.

The book "pushers" undoubtedly will tell you otherwise.

But, alas, there's more than one way to be "bitten" by a dog.

By doing some "yipping" (investigating) before you buy the "dog" (book) you may save yourself from a lot of yipping after the kennel (contract) is closed.

The recent swarm of drillers, engineers and electricians around the B.C. Electric's Jordan River hydro plant has no special significance, a company spokesman says.

"It's simply a routine check-up," says the spokesman. "After all the plant is 50 years old. It's just good business to see that it's standing up and in good order."

Is it in good order?

"Absolutely," says the spokesman. "Mind you it's not providing all the power for this area like it used to—nowadays, Jordan River power goes into the pool with power brought from the mainland—but it plays an important contributing role."

PERSON-TO-PERSON . . . Named to the board of directors of Victoria Credit Grantors' Association today is Reg Lupton, manager of Custom Finance. . . . He'll serve until April. . . . VCGA has a membership of 430 merchants in Greater Victoria, pools information on consumer credit.

Critics who contend Canada's immigration policy leads to wage-cutting and a reduction in the industrial wage level should wipe the smog from their spectacles.

Studies made by the Globe and Mail show that between 1951 and 1958, roughly 1.4 million immigrants entered Canada. In this time weekly wages in Canadian industry rose from an average of $49.61 to $70.43, an increase of 44 per cent.

The consumer price index rose from 113.17 to 125.1, an increase of 10 per cent.

To even the most muddled mathematician, it is clear that the arrival of 1.4 million immigrants was accompanied not by a decrease but by a substantial increase in the real wages of industrial workers.

Nobody can say George I. Warren isn't on the ball.

Hardly had Great Britain announced that its residents could take more money out of the country for travel than Tourist and Publicity Bureau Commissioner Warren fired off bushels of literature about Victoria, the palm trees and other amenities.

If the response is gratifying, credit George I. with doing his bit to correct Canada's trade imbalance.

SEAGRAMS PAYS EXTRA DIVIDEND

MONTREAL (CP) — Distillers Corporation-Seagrams Ltd., announced Thursday it has declared an extra dividend of 50 cents a share along with the usual quarterly dividend of 30 cents.

The company reported net earnings of $27,131,333, or $3.09 a share, for the fiscal year ended last July 31 compared with $25,617,341, or $2.92 a share, for the previous period. Sales for the year totalled $731,300,000, up from $704,500,000.

'POLICE IN EACH STORE' THREAT Crackdown on Trading Stamps

SASKATOON (CP) — Grocery chains halted distribution of premium stamps from Saskatchewan branches Thursday after Attorney-General R. A. Walker threatened to place a policeman in each store and lay a charge every time stamps were issued.

Mr. Walker said he had advised Loblaw Groceries Company Saskatchewan Ltd., and a subsidiary, O.K. Economy Stores, that if distribution of stamps was not halted today he would place a policeman in each store. Charges would be laid and customers subpoenaed each time stamps were given with a purchase.

Roy McFadyen, head of retail operations for O.K. Stores in Saskatoon, said "in the face of this we have decided to suspend the stamp operation."

Alaska's population of 211,000 includes some 40,000 Eskimos and Indians, descendants of ancient immigrants from Asia.

More than 40 charges have been laid against O.K. Stores in Saskatchewan of issuing trading stamps contrary to the Criminal Code of Canada.

Magistrate Guy Trethewey of Moose Jaw Tuesday found Loblaw's guilty of two charges under the code. The company is appealing the conviction. O.K. and Loblaw's said customers who already hold stamps can redeem them "at their merchantable value" at the store where they were issued.

PISTONS HITTING ON ALL CYLINDERS

There's usually an individual star on any hoop club, but you still can't beat that old teamwork. All five players of Detroit Pistons put theory to work as they gang up on Larry Foust (dark uniform) of Minneapolis Lakers during fight for ball in National Basketball

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—Years ago, the defensive football player was an obscure drudge. They had the skills of tree stumps. Ignorance was not considered a serious defect. Their jobs demanded that they be shaped like grizzly bears and they were about as smart.

New York Giants' defensive unit has altered the popular conception of defensive players as autumn muggers. They are the solar system of the team that leads the U.S. National Football League. It is not common for one of their kind to go unnoticed through a season. But the guys who play for the Giants are famous and they are appreciated by the multitudes who watch them.

Last Sunday, as the Giants beat Chicago Cardinals, 9-3, on Pat Summerall's three field goals in Yankee Stadium, they were responsible for their team being in first place. Against Pittsburgh the previous week, the Cardinals made 45 points and their offense has a reputation for quick deceit.

Rushing against the Giants, they were held to 108 yards. Seventy-three of them were run off by Johnny Crow in a single journey. They couldn't do it with their legs. Passing didn't help them, either, because they were limited to 63 yards. They are an inexperienced team and they are expected to make mistakes. But the Giants didn't allow them to mature Sunday.

In 25 years of writing football, this is the greatest defensive group I've ever seen. There can be no doubt about it.

The sport has changed. It is no longer a riot between organized mobs. Modern football is the most complicated game ever performed by athletes any place in any time. It is a kind of savage chess played by furious men. In no country in the world is there a sport that requires more intelligence. Yet, excepting the fight racket, this also demands that the athlete take more risks with his body.

The offense improved with the variations of the T formation. It is one of the unchallenged mottos of football that no T team can win without a gifted quarterback. The Giants did it Sunday, although Charlie Conerly couldn't call a play for them. The reason they won was because their defensive group dominated the game. This is the second consecutive week that they haven't had a touchdown scored against them.

Going into dressing rooms after games, a reporter generally can sense the players' feelings. They may try to conceal them with glib falsehoods, but this truth comes through. Sunday follows Sunday and the Giant defensive guys are repetitious in their praise of Tom Landry, their unit's coach.

All of them, from Andy Robustelli to the newest kid with a clean shirt unmarked by bench-sitting, make sure you don't neglect Landry. Congratulate one of them for having a good afternoon, and they'll turn the interview away from themselves to the assistant coach. Never in a lifetime of covering sports have I heard such compliments uttered by the guys who do the work.

It is not a matter of rubbing down the boss with con either. It is as if they were ferocious puppets with strings running back to the sidelines for Landry to pull. They wanted me to know Sunday and every Sunday before this that they were joyous because they had to depend on him.

Professional athletes usually resent this rigid control by a coach or a manager. They like to regard themselves as original players who make impulsive decisions of their own. But the defensive unit of the Giants insists they are carefully rehearsed by Landry to anticipate all that the other people can do.

It is their belief that Landry will pull them out of any situation they can't comprehend. They were surprised by the Cardinals, who usually split the ends. But on Sunday Chicago worked with the ends tight, pulled in close to the tackles. That didn't bother them long, all of them agreed, because Landry plotted an immediate adjustment.

"I can't tell you exactly what he did," explained Landry to me, politely, as if holding a secret were distasteful to him. "We play the Cardinals again."

It is more than knowing his sport. It is obvious that Landry understands the guys who play for him.

"He never second-guesses you," Jimmy Patton said. "The only time he uses I is when he says 'I take the blame'."

The players gave the football as a trophy of a winning game to Robustelli, who immediately turned it over to Landry.

"I'm not good enough," said Robustelli, who is the captain of the unit. "Tom's the guy."

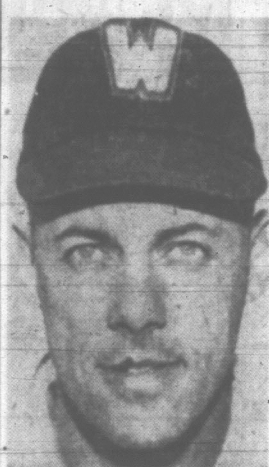

Eagle Changed Style

LONDON (CP)—Victory for Cain Hoy Stable's Bald Eagle in Laurel's $100,000 International race came as a puzzling reversal of form to British students of racing.

When raced in Britain, Bald Eagle was a morning glory, fast in workouts but extremely disappointing on the race course.

The colt was a 7-to-4 favorite to win the 2,000 Guineas at Newmarket last year, but finished well in the ruck behind the Queen's Pall Mall. He was second choice in the 1958

Ingo Won't Spurn Latest Invitation

NEW YORK (UPI)—Heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson must testify today at a fight-promotion hearing in the state attorney-general's office.

Louis J. Lefkowitz, state attorney-general, is investigating the June 26 fight in which Sweden's Johansson won the crown from Floyd Patterson.

Lefkowitz wants to know if the promotion violated the state's Donnelly Anti-Trust Act, particularly in connection with the disposal of TV, radio and movie rights. The fight itself is not being probed.

Johansson was subpoenaed Thursday by Martin L. Baron, assistant attorney-general, because Ingemar previously had been "invited" twice to testify at hearings and twice had failed to show up—after promising that he would.

"We wanted to make sure this time," said Baron, who personally served the subpoena on the champion at the St. Moritz Hotel.

Baron and Irving Galt, also an assistant attorney-general, were to do the questioning today.

BILL PLEADS GUILTY

Johansson is rehearsing in New York for a television thriller.

Meanwhile, the State Athletic Commission had concluded its investigations on the June 26 promotion and will hand down its decisions "in due course" in the cases of promoter Bill Rosenzohn and fight-manager Gus D'Amato.

Rosenzohn, who promoted the June fight, pleaded guilty at a brief hearing yesterday to all three misconduct charges against him. They were: (1) consorting with persons of ill repute, (2) failing to notify the commission of a stock transfer, and (3) placing 200 working press tickets on sale.

Rosenzohn asked the com-

Long Chip Drops

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Jerry Pittman, 22-year-old former Texas Collegiate ace, rammed in a 60-foot chip shot on the last hole Thursday for a five-under-par 66 to tie veteran professional Bob Watson for the first-round lead in the $15,000 Lafayette Open Golf tournament.

Jerry Magee of Toronto was tied for fifth with a 68.

Esks Must Find Right Footwear

WINNIPEG (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos arrived in Winnipeg today, determined to get the Western Interprovincial Football Union final playoff series back on an even footing.

Eskimos feel the Blue Bombers' mystery aluminum cleats were a big factor in Winnipeg's 19-11 win in the opening game Wednesday.

Edmonton players were running shoes equipped with special treads and the Bombers appeared to have better traction on the frozen field at Clarke Stadium.

"If we can meet them on an even footing—literally—it should be quite a ball game," said Eskimos President Eric Duggan. "We have been trying various types of footwear, and if we can come up with the right one the series is still very much alive."

Winnipeg coach Bud Grant has refused to allow photographs of the cleats, which were ruled legal under football

Hilltops Have Confidence

SASKATOON (CP)—Saskatoon Hilltops have a lot of respect for Vancouver's North Shore Cougars, but are confident they will win the sudden-death western Canadian junior football final.

Hilltops meet Cougars Sunday afternoon in Empire Stadium at Vancouver. Winner of the match will meet the eastern champion next week for the Canadian title. Hilltops are defending Canadian champions.

Head coach Ron Tinkler, after scouting Cougars, rates them an "average-sized" club with a good running and passing game. He will be watching especially the Cougar passing game.

The Saskatoon club downed Winnipeg for the Manitoba-Saskatchewan league title, but collected five injuries doing it. Only one man, interior line-backer Wayne Shaw, is a doubtful starter.

Shaw, controversial university student who cost Hilltops a protest game but was later ruled eligible to play in junior ranks, has a "50-50 chance of dressing," club officials say. He is suffering an infected leg.

FAN CLUB MEETING

The Victoria Cougars Fan Club is keeping busy although the team is on tour. A meeting will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ruth Davidson, 1839 Camarvon.

LAST CHANCE TO GET EVEN

LONDON (CP)—The 1959 flat-racing season ends Saturday with Britain's last big gamble of the year, the November Handicap.

Punters call it the "get-out stakes," wistfully contemplating a long-expected coup to erase a season's disasters, but the event usually develops into a bookies' benefit.

Some 40 second-class performers will go to the post in the 1 1/4-mile event at Manchester. Track conditions are usually sloppy and the horses stale after eight months of racing, adding to the hazards of forecasting a race that has always proved a graveyard for favorites.

Among the favorites this year are Ross Sea, Pink, Anthelion and Elysium. Selectors also have a good word for most of the other 36 runners.

The equine star this season was Petite Etiole, a filly owned by the Aly Khan, whose colors are enjoying the same success on the British turf as did those of his late father, Petite rules in advance. They were questioned by Eskimo coach Eagle Keys, but he later accepted their legality.

The footing in Winnipeg's stadium doesn't promise much improvement over Clarke Stadium. The weather office predicts 10 below zero weather today and says it could last through Saturday.

Bombers, who returned to Winnipeg Thursday, held a long outdoor drill Thursday evening. All hands worked out, including veteran tackle Buddy Tinsley who pulled a leg muscle in Wednesday's game.

KEEPS ON RUNNING

Tinsley, who had been on the limp from a pulled muscle in his other leg, strained the good one Wednesday. But he was jogging around the practice field in below-zero temperatures Thursday.

Saturday's game starts at 12:05 p.m. (PST), and will be televised nationally, with Winnipeg blacked out. Third game, if necessary, will be played here next Wednesday.

The winner will meet either Ottawa Rough Riders or Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Grey Cup game at Toronto Nov. 28. Ottawa and Hamilton start their Big Four final series Saturday.

The Eskimos came through Wednesday's game in good condition. Tackle J. T. Frank-emberger had one of his hands ripped by a cleat. Linebacker Oscar Kruger had a close call when one of his running shoes was ripped off—again by a cleat—but he was uninjured.

CLEATS DANGEROUS?

C. Sydney Halter, Canadian Football League commissioner, was asked whether Winnipeg's cleats were more dangerous than other types.

"Any cleat can cut a player up," Halter said.

Despite the bitter cold, Winnipeg Stadium may be slightly softer than the Clarke Stadium turf.

Immediately following an intermediate football game last Saturday the biggest power roller available was run over the field. Then the tarpaulin, now snow covered, was put in place.

The tarpaulin will be lifted only to mark lines on the field, and then will be replaced. Depending on the amount of snow on the tarp, it will be lifted as close as possible to game time. The operation takes at least four hours.

Popgun Artillery Right on Target

Big Guns Quiet As Red Wings, Habs Triumph

By The Canadian Press

In the National Hockey League the big artillery gets most of the attention but occasionally the pop-guns make most of the noise.

Thursday night was one of those times as the sub-20 goals-a-year men did almost all of the scoring and collected most of the honors in Detroit Red Wings' 6-5 defeat of Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens' 3-0 shutout of Toronto Maple Leafs.

At Boston left-winger Jack McIntyre, who hadn't scored at all in 13 previous games, this season, led Red Wings back from a 3-2 second-period deficit with two goals in the third.

And at Montreal centre Phil Goyette scored two-thirds of the Canadiens' output. It was Goyette's second consecutive two-goal game, but he was scoreless in Montreal's first 14 games.

MASKED HERO

His triumph was shared by a masked goaltender who gave his name as Jacques Plante and turned back 33 shots to blank the Leafs.

It was Plante's first shutout of the season and lifted him past Detroit's Terry Sawchuk in the netminder's goals-against column. Plante now has allowed 33 goals in 16 games for a 2:01 average, while Sawchuk's five-goal night left him with a 2:02 average.

McIntyre, a solidly built forward from Brussels, Ont., has never scored more than 16 goals in an NHL season during a professional career that spans a decade.

He's done time with Boston, Detroit and Chicago Black Hawks and his hard work has brought him few moments of glory. But Thursday night's game was one he can paste in his memory book.

BRUINS GRAB LEAD

Boston, beaten 6-3 by New York Rangers Wednesday night, divided goals with Detroit in the first period and then went on one of their scoring rampages in the second, taking a 3-3 lead.

But in the third McIntyre slapped in a pass from Gary Aldcorn at 1:44; Billy McNeill made it 5-5 at 11:27 on a rebound and McIntyre got the winner at 18:12 when he rapped a backhand shot past Don Simmons.

Defenceman Marcel Pronovost scored Wings' first goal, Alex Delvecchio got the second and Gordie Howe the third—with an assist from McIntyre. Aldcorn had a total of three assists.

On the Boston scoring ledger the low-scoring were also prominent. The Uke line contributed only one goal to the total, by Johnny Bucyk, through Sawchuk had to be hot to keep big Bronco Horvath off the score-sheet. Guy Gendron scored twice. Leo Labine got another and Leo Boivin added the fifth.

HABS UNBEATABLE

The game at Montreal was a fast, wide-open affair but Plante and the Goyette-Andre Pronovost-Claude Provost line prevailed to keep Canadiens undefeated in 11 consecutive games.

Goyette got his first at 4:23 of the first period when he knocked in Provost's rebound. His second came at 19:23 of the second when he deflected Pronovost's shot.

Dickie Moore scored the third Montreal goal on passes from Henri Richard and rearguard Tom Johnson.

The night's results left first-place Montreal with a five-point edge over second-place Detroit. Toronto and Boston are tied for third, two points back.

ROCKET ISN'T FRETTER WHILE BRONCO GALLOPS

MONTREAL (CP)—Maurice (Rocket) Richard isn't doing any fretting about the goal-a-game clip Bronco Horvath of Boston Bruins is setting in the National Hockey League.

Montreal Canadiens' veteran Richard is the only player ever to maintain that pace throughout a whole season—50 goals in the 50-game schedule of the 1944-45 season. He is also the only player ever to score 50 goals in one season of any length. NHL clubs now play a 70-game schedule.

"Records are made to be broken and I'm not going to worry about Horvath," said the 38-year-old Montreal star Wednesday.

Horvath had scored 15 goals in 15 games of the current season.

Trimble Talks—With Caution

By The Canadian Press

Things are normal around Hamilton Tiger-Cats' football camp in one sense. Jim Trimble is giving voice again.

They are abnormal in another sense. He is speaking with extreme caution.

The coach of the Big Four champions would say nothing about Saturday's first game of the final playoff with Ottawa Rough Riders except that both teams will have blood in their eyes.

"They'll be out to take somebody's hide-off," said Trimble of his players before Thursday's last practice, "and I know it won't be mine."

As for Ottawa:

"The Rough Riders are playing very, very well and have gained momentum. This is going to be a real tough ball game."

RESPECTS RIDERS

Trimble planned to fly his crew to Ottawa today for the opener of the two-game, total-point series which picks East-

Rivals Keeping Close Watch On Cats' Cards

By Canadian Press
 "Two on the aisle, centre ice—about half way up—and charge it!"

That's the line some hockey fans in Victoria have been using in buying tickets to home games of the Western Hockey League's Cougars.

Now it looks as if Cougars' unique credit card system, inaugurated by general manager Hal Laycoe, may soon spread to other cities.

Managers of other teams in the league, questioned about the idea, said it seems to have merits.

Only Coley Hall, general manager of Vancouver Canucks (who have never reported a deficit in 11 years in the WHL), frowned on the idea.

MIGHT LOSE FANS
 "I don't think it's a good idea," Hall said. "Any games where you're not paying for luxuries on credit might refuse to pay up. If you force them, you lose them as fans."

"It's all right to use credit to buy necessities, but not for luxuries."

Manager-coach Bud Poile of Edmonton Flyers was enthusiastic.

SOCCER STATISTICS

Moffat, Graas Pace Minor Boot Artists

Bob Moffat and David Graas are setting a fast scoring pace in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association.

Moffat has scored 11 goals in four games with Oak Bay Optimists to lead Division 4 scorers. Graas, who plays with Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, also has 11 goals in four games to set the pace for Division 7 scorers.

Larry Johnston of Heaney's owns the best Division 1 mark—seven goals in four games—and John Wilson of Landsowne Eagles has six in four to top Division 6 booters.

In Division 2, four players are tied with three goals each and three share the Division 5 scoring lead, each with six tallies.

MUSTANGS HAVE IT

Speed Biggest Worry Of Thunderbird Coach

VANCOUVER (CP)—Coach Frank Gnuip looked up from a scouting report and said without hesitation: "We're going down there. Let's just leave it at that."

He had been asked for a prediction on the Canadian college football final between the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds and the University of Western Ontario Mustangs in Toronto next Sunday afternoon.

"We can just hope for the best," said Gnuip in a gross understatement.

The entire athletic department is hoping for a little more than the best from the Birds who, with a victory, could do much toward fanning into flames a spark of renewed interest in football that the spectators have shown this year with UBC's return to a Canadian conference.

Interest had lagged with 10

BUSINESS LOOKS AT LABOR, MANAGEMENT

'Two Clumsy Gladiators'

Antagonism between labor and management is upsetting the delicate balance of the modern economy, Rotary Club members were told Thursday. City businessman Hugh Stephen told a luncheon meeting both sides should strive for a more mature approach to negotiation.

"I don't believe the public will tolerate for long," he said, "the spectacle of two clumsy gladiators blundering around in the fragile china of today's economy."

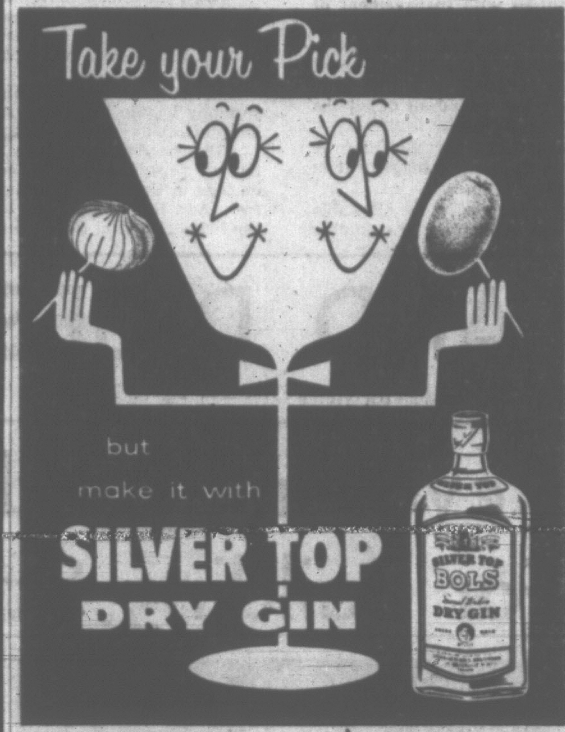

'MORE ADULT'

"We have to be more adult. At its best our conduct toward one another is frigidly polite and at its worst it is barely above the level of small boys who write rude words on lavatory walls."

He urged both sides to "learn to respect the terms of one another's beliefs" and to "encourage small courtesies to reduce friction."

He outlined the benefits that organized labor could bring to a business and deplored the means which labor employed to "merchandise these assets." He said that union negotiators approach the bargaining table with a "timorous disposition... aided and abetted by all the gloomy paraphernalia of the labor department."

Another step forward, he said, would be the use of a "We Do Patronize" list, instead of the resentment producing "We Don't Patronize" information.

Porchlight 'Brigade' Recruited

The Kiwanis Club is seeking more than 2,000 volunteer canvassers to assist in the annual Kiwanis Village Society porchlight drive on Dec. 1 between 6.30 and 7.30 p.m.

Volunteers are asked to contact Mrs. Norma Barton at EV 6-2541.

This year's campaign is directed by Reginald Harris, president of the society, with Mrs. J. D. (Norma) Barton acting as secretary.

The club in its one-hour drive will seek to raise funds to complete a villa to accommodate 75 to 100 elderly single persons and to provide 38 additional cottages.

The village started seven years ago with six cottages, has now 50 dwellings valued at $350,000.

School Bus Crash

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP)—A train collided with a stalled school bus Thursday night, injuring seven young football players. The bus was taking St. Anthony Junior Seminary high school team to play rival St. Gerard when it stalled at the crossing atop a hill. The engineer of the train applied the air brakes but was unable to halt in time.

RESEARCHERS TAKE HARD LOOK AT SECOND-GROWTH FORESTS

The Great Outdoors Is Their Lab

VANCOUVER (CP) — Foresters and biologists are using a Vancouver Island logging operation as a giant outdoor laboratory in a search for the best methods of managing second-growth forests.

The studies range from increasing the growth rate of young trees to protection of forests from insect damage and integration of game resources with management of the new tree crop.

They are being carried out at MacMillan & Bloedel's Northwest Bay division near Parksville. Both government and industry research scientists are involved in the work. Their common aim is economic utilization of all the resources of the forest, both now and in the future.

I. K. Barber, supervisor of forestry for MacMillan & Bloedel, says the whole concept of forest management in B.C. still is in the research stage.

He said two chief methods of increasing the allowable cut of second-growth forests are to increase the number of producing acres by prompt reforestation and reclaiming land lost to non-productive trees, and by increasing the rate of growth to the acre.

The company is carrying out various tree fertilization, reforestation and spacing programs in the outdoor lab.

One of the industry's major concerns is insect damage. H. A. Richmond of Nanaimo, Canada's only consulting forest entomologist, says the presence of the insect pests has more economic significance today than in the past because a big outbreak can upset a costly management plan for a whole rotation.

Mr. Richmond was retained to conduct a program of spraying logs in the woods and in the water by helicopter in an effort to combat damage by the ambrosia beetle.

This beetle attacks logs on the ground damaging the timber, he said. Losses on an average attack of ambrosia on logs in the woods can run to $7 to $10 for 1,000 board feet. And timber damaged by ambrosia cannot be sold in the industry's vital export market.

ISLAND BRIEFS

(From Duncan Bureau)

DUNCAN — Premier W. A. C. Bennett has declined an invitation to speak here Dec. 4 on a public forum panel on the subject, "Resources Available to Meet Public School Costs," sponsored by the Cowichan District Teachers' Association.

Cowichan District School Board Trustee Wilf Pike, Cowichan Bay, and J. Alan Spragge, Vancouver, executive assistant of the B.C. Teachers' Federation have agreed to be panel members.

North Cowichan Reeve C. A. P. Murison withdrew as a panel member after having agreed to speak earlier this month.

DUNCAN — A DeMolay chapter will be formed at a public meeting in the Tzouhalem Hotel here Monday at 8 p.m. when boys aged 14 to 21 will be invited to attend.

LAKE COWICHAN — Christmas is just around the corner as far as the Lake Cowichan Kiwanis Club is concerned.

Plans were completed at the last meeting to sell Christmas trees again this year. Proceeds will go to club service projects.

NANAIMO (CP) — Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Raynor, convicted last week of mistreating 25 dogs at her Yarron Kennels, was further remanded Thursday to Nov. 19 for sentence.

Crown counsel Harold Hine asked Magistrate Lionel Bevoir-Potts for an extension of time in which to draw up a specific instructions requiring Mrs. Raynor to bring her kennel up to SPCA standards.

PORT ALBERNI — Mr. Uchuck will sail from here Sunday at 8 a.m. with from 40 to 60 divers for a day of exploration at the remains of a wrecked ship in Barkley Sound.

GANGES — Re-elected this week at meetings held in Salt Spring, School District 64 were Trustees George Heinicke, Ganges; A. D. Dane, Fulford, and J. M. Campbell, Sarnia.

New trustees elected were J. Reid, Salt Spring, replacing J. W. A. Green, and M. Hawkins, Mayne Island, replacing William Morson.

The school board has reported the school population now stands at 482, with 379 of this number at Salt Spring Elementary-Senior High School. There are 21 teachers, and 15 of them at the combined school.

Revolving Fund Asked For Building Schools

"Stay away from my flocks," warns Mrs. Joan Yates.

The Lady's a Mean Shot —Goat Killers Beware!

Hunters who have been shooting goats on the Becher Bay property of Mrs. Joan Yates probably are not aware that Mrs. Yates is a cougar hunter of note and a crack shot with a rifle.

According to Mrs. Yates, to date this year hunters have killed 12 of her flock of 100 goats, kept on the 500-acre farm as a source of meat.

A few hunters actually have stopped in the district to ask where they can find the flocks of wild goats, she said. Animals that were shot were not taken away, she said, but were left to die.

There are no wild goats on Vancouver Island, according to the game branch, and no season for them, although there are reports of untended herds on Triangular Mountain and Munn Road.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Yates has warned that steps will be taken against persons shooting on her property.

Timber Up for Sale At North Cowichan

NORTH COWICHAN—Two parcels of timber owned by North Cowichan municipality have been offered for sale.

They were cruised by Percy Sweetman, Maple Bay, municipal forest officer, who valued them at $726.

Only offer received to date is $200 from F. R. Holman, which was considered by council as "too low."

They Got Station By Blocking PM

(From Duncan Bureau)

High-handed tactics 73 years ago won a railroad station for Duncan, Willard Ireland, provincial archivist, said here Thursday at the annual prize-giving banquet of Cowichan Exhibition Association.

Full Debate On New Plan Monday Night

(From Duncan Bureau)

A resolution calling for the provincial government to set up a "revolving fund" to provide for school construction in B.C. will be discussed by Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce Monday.

The resolution notes the government says it is now out of debt and revenues are still high.

Under the chamber plan the government would advance money for the full cost of new schools and local school districts would pay their 50 per cent share by installment as they do now to bondholders.

The resolution urges: "... that the B.C. government be asked to give serious thought to a plan whereby funds for new schools would be made available from normal provincial revenues; these funds to be used to pay the full cost of such new schools and the ratepayers of the various school districts to pay their share of the cost of them to the government through the present tax machinery on the present shared basis, roughly 50-50; ... and that study of this plan aim at nothing less than that this proposed method of financing become permanent for all new school buildings in B.C. in order that the vagaries of the money market shall not prove a hazard to the provision of necessary and vital educational facilities."

In submitting the proposal, Mr. Dobson said the advantages of such a scheme would be that ratepayers would escape the high cost of borrowing and the many delays in school construction.

Railway in 1886, a crowd of people forced his train to stop at Duncan Crossing, then demanded a station.

"He promised the station," Mr. Ireland said. "He made the promise just as any modern politician would, if his train were forced to stop."

FIRST COW — Speaking on $100 Years of Agriculture in the Cowichan Valley," he said the district's first cow had been driven there from Victoria over the old Gidstream Trail, now the Trans-Canada Highway over the Malahat, by Miss Elizabeth Blackmore. She was nurse and

Dr. J. C. Davie, a Victoria physician.

First grist mill was built in 1868 with materials sent to the district from Victoria by "Sir James Douglas" in a generous gesture to open up the agriculture potentials of the Cowichan Valley.

A gymkhana for club members only will be held this Sunday at Western Speedway, under direction of Chris Birch. Members of the public will be welcomed as spectators.

TAXES UPPED IN MICHIGAN
 LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Majority Republicans in the state Senate Wednesday agreed on a $72,500,000 emergency tax program to meet Michigan's cash crisis. The package calls for new or increased levies on cigars and pipe tobacco, cigarettes, beer, liquor. It also includes attaching the current 3-per-cent sales tax to services not now covered, including auto, radio, television and house repairs, but excepting professional services.

Alaska Pair to Get Baby

LONDON (AP)—Roy and Sheila Winkley said Thursday their unborn and unwanted baby will go to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Malone of Anchorage, Alaska. "They seem very nice people from their letter," said the baby's father, 29-year-old Roy Winkley. More than 200 letters and some 12 cables have arrived at the Winkley's Timperley, north of England, home since they offered the child for adoption in the United States. Winkley, a jobless ex-factory worker, said he and his wife were devoted to their eight-year-old son and five-year-old daughter but could not face another bout of baby-minding. They gave away a baby to an English couple last year for the same reason. The Winkley's baby is expected next February or March.

Vegetable Thief Pays $100 Fine

Stealing cabbages and cauliflower cost Charles Skazel, 308 Douglas, a $100 fine in Central Saanich police court Thursday. Caught pulling the garden produce from Harry Mow's farm on Martindale Road after dark, Skazel pleaded guilty to the theft charge.

Acting on complaints that garden raiding was becoming prevalent, Chief Fred Brownlee caught Skazel as he loaded 60-70 cabbages and 22 cauliflowers into the back of his car.

They Bark But Can't Bite

Ald. Elmer McEwen Thursday questioned the legality of 20 parking meters erected on Arena Way opposite the Hudson Bay Company's Parkade.

He asked if a "not in service" sign had been put on the meters in view of the fact that no amendment to the bylaw authorizing the meters had been made.

Earlier this year, a motorist charged with overparking at a meter on Herald successfully defended himself because the meter was not included in the streets and traffic bylaw.

(Earlier this year, a motorist charged with overparking at a meter on Herald successfully defended himself because the meter was not included in the streets and traffic bylaw.)

City Engineer James Garnett claimed the meters were put up at the request of the council.

"They are not illegally there," he said.

"But," he added, "if you get a ticket there, you may, of course, dispute it."

Council approved a recommendation instructing the city solicitor to prepare a bylaw to authorize use of the meters.

The Montmorency Falls 10 miles east of Quebec drop 274 feet, about 100 feet more than at Niagara Falls.

STAY OUT OF THE SUN TO KEEP GOOD LOOKS

DETROIT (AP)—If you want to look younger longer, stay out of the sun.

That's the conclusion reported Thursday by a leading skin specialist at the annual meeting of the Gerontological Society. Gerontology is the scientific study of old age.

Dr. J. Graham Smith Jr., dermatologist at the University of Miami, Fla., school of medicine, said a study of skin samples from a group of older people in the Miami area showed that skin exposed regularly to the sun showed all the signs commonly connected with growing old—wrinkles; loose, thick and sagging skin; crows feet around the eyes.

But skin taken from areas of the body not regularly exposed to sun did not show these signs.

Saanich Loses Licence Test Case

A charge against Heaney Cartage and Storage Ltd. for operating in Saanich without a commercial vehicle licence was dismissed in Saanich police court Thursday.

The test case arose after it was found a Heaney fuel oil truck made a delivery in the municipality without a commercial licence plate.

Magistrate A. L. Thomas ruled against the Crown when he found "no charge within the meaning of the bylaw" against which the alleged offence was committed.

He said the bylaw refers to vehicles for hire and there was no evidence to show the vehicle in question was for hire.

'UNCERTAINTY'

"There is a lot of uncertainty in the bylaw and in the Municipal Act," he observed.

"I may be wrong, but I don't think council has the power to delegate the chief of police as a sort of licence inspector to determine whether the terms of carrying out business are complied with."

The magistrate said he thought there may be a constitutional issue involved.

Juvenile Officer To Address PTA

Among PTA meetings scheduled for next week are: the McKenzie Avenue PTA in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. Monday, Const. H. Adams, juvenile officer for Saanich will speak on juvenile delinquency.

The Lansdowne PTA meeting in the school library at 8 p.m. Monday, Gerrard Lortie, case supervisor of the Family and Child Welfare Service, and Mrs. W. MacKenzie, social worker, will speak on "discipline and the teenager."

The Central Junior High School PTA in the school gymnasium at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Ken Leeming will talk on "educational finance."

Thugs Beat Bank Clerk

MONTREAL (CP)—Three armed men escaped with $9,000 from an east-end branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale Thursday after locking three employees in the vault and pistol-whipping a fourth, clerk Jean Trudeau, 17, after he ignored their orders to step into the vault. Trudeau was treated in hospital and released.

OPTICS

As the human eye is symbolic of the science that deals with light and vision, it also could remind one of Grant's.

For through more than five generations the Grant family has zealously watched over the distillation, ageing and distribution of its famous whisky, Grant's Stand Fast. The result is a fine distinctive Scotch whose flavour is much sought after—and made available—throughout the world. And available here in the tall triangular bottle.

Mayor Predicts Second Bylaw On Parking Mall

Smith Blamed For Higher Cost

Mayor Percy Scurrell today said his mayoralty opponent, J. Donald Smith, is "flogging a dead horse" in attacking the View Street $1,000,000 bylaw.

The mayor said the bylaw will not be enough to build the proposed parking and mall development now because of the increase in interest rates and building costs since it was approved by ratepayers last December.

"The ex-alderman (Mr. Smith) must accept responsibility for that increase in cost," he said.

The mayor said, before the project is begun "we will put a new bylaw to the people based on the new costs with a view to finding out if they wish to support it."

(Mr. Smith, who has launched a court action against the bylaw promised at a public meeting Thursday that he would launch a special inquiry into circumstances surrounding the project proposal if he is elected Dec. 10. See story, page 32).

"This person stopped the project by a technicality and now, after a year's delay, he proposes to investigate it," said the mayor.

NEEDED STUDY
"Why didn't he investigate it first and then, if found sufficient reason, enter a legal action?"

"However, he went off half-cocked and stopped the project on a technicality."

"In supporting the parking building and mall, I am only acting as the agent of the people who have voted for it."

The mayor said ratepayers approved the project in an effort to insure that the downtown area would continue in the high-assessment bracket.

He said if business was lost to suburban shopping centres the downtown area would deteriorate and "that would mean an increase in taxation on the homeowner and that must be avoided at all costs."

Residential Chest Drives Twice Yearly

Justin V. Harbord, president of Victoria Community Chest, today proposed that, starting next April, the Chest should hold two residential canvasses annually.

"This appears to be necessary since Greater Victoria is primarily a residential district," Mr. Harbord said, "and we are thus unable to look to substantial increased giving from industry or by payroll deduction."

Mr. Harbord made the announcement this afternoon when it was known that 1959 chest campaign will not reach its objective of $325,000. But the chest still hopes to raise $300,000 before the campaign closes.

PLEDGE NEGLECTED

"The majority of residential donors do not use the pledge system," he said, "but donate what is convenient at the time of the canvass."

"These people, I am sure, would gladly donate twice a year if asked to do so."

Mr. Harbord said, although the campaign had not reached its goal, Greater Victorians can be proud of the fact that in two years they have increased their giving by approximately 35 per cent.

"The board of directors are most grateful for this generous support and particularly to the thousands of warm-hearted people who gave not only money but countless hours of their time in volunteer effort."

Premier Gives 'Push' To North Island Road

DOCKSIDE STEAM TRIALS FOR PT. ANGELES FERRY

Victoria came a step closer to sea connection with Port Angeles Thursday when dockside steaming trials started at Seattle for the new ferry Mv. Coho.

The Coho was built for Black Ball Transportation Company of Seattle. Sea trials are expected to start early next month, and the vessel should be in service on the Seattle-Port Angeles-Victoria route before Christmas.

The ferry's name comes from the ancient Coast Indian Salish language, and means "salmon."

PACIFIST LOOKS AT MR. K's VISIT

American Women Prodding Men On Disarmament

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Premier Khrushchev's recent visit to the United States has "revolutionized" public opinion towards Russia, a leading woman pacifist said here today.

"The women of America are very impressionable and since this visit they no longer see the Russian people as monsters," declared Mrs. Magda Trocme from Versailles, France.

"They were much impressed by the Russian premier and his wife and they are bringing pressure to bear on their menfolk to see that his proposals for peace are not ignored."

Born in Italy of Italian-Russian parentage, brown-eyed Mrs. Trocme is co-secretary of the pacifist organization The Fellowship of Reconciliation (F.O.R.). She shares this work with her husband who is a Protestant Church minister in Versailles.

"We have been pacifists since the end of the First World War," she said in an interview. "Our interpretation of pacifism is non-violent resistance with spiritual and moral weapons..."

"But, of course, in certain circumstances no one can be a pacifist."

On a lecture tour of North America, Mrs. Trocme is pleading for a better understanding of Soviet Russia based on her extensive travels in the Soviet Union.

She came here Thursday night to address a meeting at Metropolitan United Church sponsored by the Peace by Peaceful Means Society, which was formed in Victoria just a year ago.

'Never Known Freedom as We Know It'

"I am not a Communist," she declared, "but I understand it and I know that in many ways it is good for Russia at the present time. To appreciate this you have to understand that the Russian people have never known freedom as we know it."

"Their idea of freedom is freedom from hunger and want such as they knew before Communism. Communism has given them absolute security with all education and medical expenses paid and a seven-hour working day. And no one earning less than 400 rubles (about $100) a month pays any income tax."

Mrs. Trocme raised a laugh when in her quaint but forceful English she said:

"They only pay income tax when they live, not when they are dead. They cannot understand why we have to pay taxes for dying."

Mrs. Trocme explained that most Russians have savings accounts and can leave their savings to anyone they choose. But these bequests are never enough to keep anyone in idleness.

"Everyone works and it is true they are directed to employment by the state. They have a choice of two or three occupations but if they do not do their work properly they will be moved into something else."

Mrs. Trocme said most Russians today are studying in their leisure time. She watched an elevator boy studying a philosophical work while waiting for passengers.

"I am expected to study whenever I can," he told her, "but if I neglect my work on the elevator I get moved to some other job whether I like it or not."

Mrs. Trocme recalled that under the Czarist regime farm workers were bought and sold with the farms they worked on. They knew nothing else so could not quit if they were sold to an employer they did not like.

... So Long as They Eat Every Day

"This is what the Communists call liberation from serfdom," she said. "And just as many Russians were sent to Siberia by the Czar as by the Communist state. They have never known what we call freedom of thought. They do not care much if their government is right or wrong so long as they can eat every day."

Mrs. Trocme admitted the Communists are intolerant of certain religions which they believe have kept people in poverty, and she mentioned Roman Catholic Spain as an example.

"However, there is more religious freedom in Russia today than for many years. There are so many religions they have to use the same churches on different days of the week."

"I do not think we in the West have absolute religious freedom. I do not think a church minister who took an absolutely pacifist stand in wartime would be allowed to keep his pulpit."

Mrs. Trocme is convinced capitalism and communism can co-exist peacefully as the Catholics and Protestants have learned to do.

"We have progressed towards world peace. The United Nations Organization is an improvement on the old League of Nations and before long we will evolve something better than the UN. It is evolutionary."

"But my greatest fear is that in a few years time the Russian people will be as comfortable and prosperous as the American people, and that may lead to a clash of ideologies."

Mrs. Trocme answered questions and was thanked by Richard Broughton, vice-president of the Peace by Peaceful Means Society.

Action Call Sent To 4 Departments

Premier Bennett today called for intensive planning by four government departments for the economic and physical development of northern Vancouver Island.

He wants the project to begin with highway construction at the beginning of the 1960 fiscal year.

The development he forecast includes:

New hydro electric projects, such as the long-delayed Kish River scheme.

Attraction of new "adaptable" industries to the Island.

Completion of a highway and ferry link from Victoria to Port Hardy to Prince Rupert and Kitimat.

The premier told a news conference: "I have asked the minister of highways, the minister of lands and forests, the minister of recreation and the Power Commission to co-operate in setting up a plan for development of northern Vancouver Island, especially from Sayward north."

"I have also asked them to bring private industry into consultation and secure their co-operation."

'TAKE SOME TIME'

"I recognize it will take some time. It will be a long-term plan for economic development that has now been held back too long. I have asked them (his ministers and the power commission) to speed up, so an early start can be made in the 1960 fiscal year."

The premier said the first step would have to be completion of the long-sought northern island highway system "and a lot of private roads should be brought into the scheme."

"The committee will decide which piece of highway gets first consideration," he added, and the power commission would make the recommendations for power development.

50-50 BASIS

However, plans for a road to the island's tip as an extension of the present Island Highway is known to be in planning stage.

Highways Minister Gagliardi said the federal government would be asked to share costs 50-50 and Powell River, Alaska Pine and Tahsis companies would be asked to co-operate in public use of forestry access roads now under their control.

Government survey crews are already working in the area. More than 100 miles of road is required to reach between Kelsey Bay and Port Hardy at the north end of the island.

Similarly, it is known the B.C. Power Commission has plans ready for development of the 51,500 horsepower potential of the Kokish, 36 miles north of Campbell River.

FERRY SERVICE

The premier said the attraction to the Island of adaptable industries was in mind when the government decided to provide a fast ferry service to the south end of the Island.

FIREMEN HAMPERED BY SMOKE

Heavy smoke was hampering firemen endeavoring to discover source of a blaze in a home at 2552 Belmont at press time today.

Fire trucks from the BCN fire department and Colwood fire department were on hand.

The house belongs to Anthony Kay. Nobody was home when the outbreak occurred. It was believed the fire started in the basement of the two-storey cedar siding home.

Hunter Turns Up After Cold Night In Coastal Bush

A Vancouver hunter missing overnight near Jackson Bay, on the mainland opposite Kelsey Bay, was reported safe this morning.

Campbell River RCMP identified him as Paul Burnell, who apparently became separated from his two companions, and was forced to sleep out overnight before joining them in daylight.

Allan Thompson, 20, lost Wednesday night in the Iron River area south of Campbell River, returned to his home in Campbell River Thursday with the tail and one paw of a cougar which he shot within 10 feet of his overnight shelter.

FOLDIN' STUFF IS GOLDEN, TOO

If you plan on robbing a bank don't take gold—or you'll have a hard job making your getaway. Pretty Wendy Burbridge, 138 Robertson, had difficulty holding these two bars, part of a bullion display on show at the main branch, Bank of Montreal. But she didn't have any difficulty holding on to $15,000 in bills—the equivalent, currency-wise, of the bullion. The large bar, weighing 403.76 troy ounces, is worth $13,854. The ounce-bar is worth $35. Purpose of the display, open to the public until Nov. 27, is to stimulate public interest in gold bullion. Just in case you get any ideas about walking out with the gold, an armed guard is on duty at all times.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have just learned we are coming to the end of Youth Appreciation Week.

(I am forever learning about things when they are coming to an end, or even later.)

So I must hasten to get my word of appreciation for Youth.

It is not that I wouldn't have been happy to appreciate Youth like all get-out, each and every day of the past week.

I am an old and willing hand at appreciating Youth.

It is just that I have been so busy appreciating the fact I am still alive that Youth Appreciation Week escaped my attention.

However, it has my attention now. And I will bow to none in my appreciation of Youth.

In fact, believe I am at the ideal age to appreciate Youth.

There are still a few friends and acquaintances of mine, who count even more years than I, who call me "young man."

Needless to say, this thrills me to the very core of my varicose veins.

Not many years from now, I will have heard my very last "young man," unless I happen to encounter someone well north of the century mark.

But while I may, I intend to appreciate Youth to its fullest.

This is best done, I think, by those of my age—sneaking up on the half-century mark, if you must know—because we are young enough to remember what we wish to remember of our youth, and old enough to filter out the memories best forgotten.

Thus we half-hundreds have no trouble at all appreciating Youth.

Even if we are not certain just when Youth begins, or when it ends.

At our advanced age, there is one thought we have about Youth appreciation:

Those who are least apt to appreciate Youth are youths.

But I can't criticize. I said, earlier, I am forever learning about things when they come to an end, or even later.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Brian A. C. Davidson, 2218 Edgewood, pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to a charge of speeding over 30 miles an hour and was fined $15.

"What have you to say for yourself?" Magistrate A. H. Thomas asked.

"We were running short on gas..." Davidson offered.

Two young men each drew $50 fines in city police court today for motor infractions.

Fort, was fined for drinking a beer on Fort Street and Alphonse J. Jubert, 20, of HMCS Naden, was fined for having a bottle of rum in his possession.

Alternative to the fine was 10 days each. No time was given to pay.

Bertram Harrison, no fixed address, was fined $50 or given the alternative of 10 days in jail in city police court today after pleading guilty to theft of food from Eaton's.

The store's security officer saw him put a TV dinner, a tin of mushrooms and meat in a shopping bag, then walk out without paying.

Value was $3.71.

Annual meeting of the B.C. Bulb Growers' Federation will be held at the Sidney Hotel, Sidney, on Saturday, starting at 9.30 a.m. Charles Walls, secretary-manager of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, will address delegates at a dinner at 6 p.m.

A Red Cross blood clinic Thursday night came within two pints of its 300-pint objective, aided by donations from 75 cadets from HMCS Venture, the RCN officer training establishment at HMC Dockyard.

The mobile clinic was in operation at Dockyard today.

Herb Capozzi, manager of the B.C. Lions football team, will be guest speaker at a Rotary Club meeting, Monday, Nov. 16, at 6 p.m. in Holyrood House.

Rudolph Zembrod, 21, of 2880 Dysart, was fined $50 in Saanich police court Thursday when he pleaded guilty to creating a disturbance by fighting at A and W Beer stand, 3335 Douglas.

"This place is getting to be a meeting place for combatants," remarked prosecutor Kenneth Murphy, recalling a recent brawl involving 30-40 young people.

Zembrod said the driver of another car was "on his back" as they drove down Douglas and they agreed to go to the stand to "have a talk."

Hockey great Lester Patrick's condition was listed as "unchanged and fair" by St. Joseph's Hospital today.

He entered hospital 11 days ago suffering pneumonia.

Mr. Patrick, 74, is a former vice-president of Madison Square Garden and a member on the Hockey Hall of Fame.

The junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1.30 p.m. at the Monterey Restaurant parking lot for a field trip to the Old West Road, North Saanich.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please say how many people in B.C. are drawing the social allowance, that is, $55 a month? B.M.

A. About 11,000, aged 18 to 65. The $55 is for single persons only; married unemployed and unemployables or those with dependents and not qualifying for unemployment insurance receive help on a graduated scale, up from $55.

Q. I had a friend that died defusing a bomb. Who holds the record for defusing bombs? M.M.

A. Werner Stephan of West Berlin. He defused about 8,000 bombs between 1945 and 1957, the year he was killed by explosion of a small grenade.

FOR QUARTER CENTURY NUMBER "13" has been "lucky" for retired salesman James Ferguson, 3225 Cadboro Bay, so much so he has had same 13 licence number during these years. Friday the 13th, today, doesn't phase him a jot, in fact he likes it. "I'm not superstitious," he says, "except a bit with ladders. Walked under a ladder here a few years ago and a hammer whistled down and nearly clonked me." He has had no major accidents since using "13" plates, reserved for him.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Assorted Jams and Teas
For Overseas Parcels

By PENNY SAVER

Need suggestions for those Christmas food parcels for overseas friends? Here are two that might help fill them. How about sending one of the boxed selections of assorted jams and jellies I saw this week? There are jars of gooseberry, apricot, damson and strawberry jam, raspberry jelly and marmalade. Boxes come at $1.55.

For friends who relish their early morning cup of tea, what could be nicer than the assortment of teas that sell for $1.25? Box contains packages of jasmine, orange pekoe, English breakfast and Darjeeling tea.

How would you like to feed a family of four with a meat meal for only 50 cents? Yes, it can be done! Secret is to get some pork neck bones that sell for two pounds for 25 cents. These can be cooked just like spareribs. Most popular way is to braise them in a slow oven, covered, for about two hours.

Now there's a nip in the air, stews and soups will appear more often on family menus. Oxtails, at 19 cents a pound are a wonderful buy and form a good base for a brown gravy stew. They're just as good boiled or braised.

Fresh caught cod is in town in plentiful supply. Cod steaks at 29 cents a pound make a reasonable and appetizing meal.

Local vegetables provide good variety for this weekend's shopping. Large Savoy cabbages are selling at 19 cents each and head-onions for 10 cents. Another good buy is large, tender celery heads. These are selling at 20 cents each. Variety can also be achieved by using Romaine or Swiss chard as a green vegetable.

Big heads of Romaine sell for 29 cents each and chard costs 29 cents for two pounds.

Is Mother Jealous?
When your only child marries, should he sign his name to letters home and add his wife's name afterwards? Or does he sign her name first? My son signs his wife's name first, then his. When they got married, all the wedding gifts came with her name first. When the wife writes to her family, she signs her name first, which is OK. I think that when my boy writes home, he should sign his name first, because no one could come in ahead of your child.

Louise Davis Answers:

You aren't looking at this situation objectively. Your son should have been signing all his letters to you with his name only, because he is the one who wrote them. This kind of social boo boo of using the two names as signatures isn't serious. Your son doesn't want to put his own name first any more than he would say (egotistically) "I and Mary went shopping yesterday." He would naturally begin, "Mary and I". Correctly, your son should just sign his own name, John, because the sentences that he is writing are his own, not Mary's. If Mary has a message for you, he can quote her. Example: "Mary asks me to tell you that she received a letter from Helen the other day." When your daughter-in-law writes to her own family, she should sign the letter "Mary", without adding John, because John isn't writing it. In either case, each can write a postscript and sign his or her name to it. When wedding gifts come to a couple even after the wedding, they are sent in the name of the bride. To send a gift to "Mrs. John Smith and Mr. John Smith" is incorrect.

In this exercise, from Josephine Lowman's leaflet No. 2 on abdominal exercises, she makes the books go down by pulling the stomach muscles in. Repeat slowly, making the abdominal wall go up and down.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

She's Thin, But Perhaps Abdominal Muscles Lax

Q. "Since giving birth to my second child my measurements are just 35 inches waist, 27 inches hips, 35 inches bust, 5 feet, 5 inches tall and weigh 110 pounds. I feel and look best at this weight so I do not want to gain. My problem is my large waist and a pad of fat just below my waist. How can I remedy this?"

A. You are very much underweight, so much so that it is hard to believe that you feel or look your best at this weight. Even if you have a small build you should weigh 123 pounds. If you have a medium frame you should weigh 136 pounds. You are so thin that I don't see how you could have any fat on you but you probably have lax abdominal muscles. At any rate take abdominal exercises. If you or any of my readers would like to have them, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to me in care of this paper.

TODAY'S RECIPE

OLD-FASHIONED DATE
TORTE

One and a half cups fresh dates, ¼ cup almonds, 3 eggs, ¼ cup brown sugar (packed), 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, ¼ cup sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon baking powder. Whipped cream.

Pit and slice dates. Chop almonds coarsely. Separate eggs and beat yolks. Gradually beat in sugar and blend in vanilla. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into creamed mixture. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to batter. Fold in dates and almonds. Turn into greased 9-inch square pan. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) 35 minutes. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream. Makes about 9 generous squares.

Worship service was conducted by Mrs. J. Paul, Fairfield group. Final plans were made for the bazaar on Nov. 21. Refreshments were served by members of Carey Road group.

New Members—Mrs. A. Gallop and Mrs. T. Anderson were welcomed as new members at meeting of Women's Guild, St. David's-by-the-Sea Church. It was announced that Canon F. C. Vaughan-Birch, rector of St. Andrews' Church, Sidney, will open the bazaar on Dec. 2. Mrs. F. Ronald served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. F. Wilcock and Mrs. H. Stevenson.

Q. "Please advise me if I should lose weight and where. I am 40 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall and weigh 138 pounds. My bust measures 38 inches, waist 30 and hips 38½. I exercise a few minutes each morning, am very active and do not look my age."

A. You did not tell me anything about your build and that makes a big difference. If you have a small frame, you are overweight—about 18 pounds. More likely, since you did not mention your build, you have a medium frame, in which case you should lose only five or six pounds. If you have a very heavy build, you should weigh more than that. Take waist-slimming exercises for a loss of a couple of inches in that measurement.

Q. "Is cosmetic wax or a depilatory best to use?"

A. You can use either one. I think a depilatory seems easier.

Q. "If I do not use soap and water in my ears I get blackheads in them. Someone told me that using soap in the ears causes wax to form in them. Please tell me if this is true."

A. It is probably not a good idea to push soap into the ears, but it should be possible to wash the ears with soap and water without doing so. Do not use so much soap and do use a thin washcloth which you can put over your forehead.

Emily Sartain Knows Game Of 'Catch a Falling Leaf'

By ELIZABETH FORBES

A little over a week ago I asked a question in this column. Did you ever try to catch a falling leaf?

Elizabeth

Since then, by telephone, letter and in personal conversation, I have discovered that it really IS hard to catch a falling leaf.

Mothers have had their children trying it. Gardeners have been taking a "go" at it when no one is looking. Wives have been trying to persuade their husbands to go dashing about under the trees, stretching their hands out to the drifting bits of brown and gold.

And, in reverse, husbands have been urging their wives to "try it themselves."

A young man of my acquaintance who hails from the land of the shamrocks, assured me that in Ireland it is very, very good luck to catch a falling leaf.

In the same vein, a letter from the well-known painter of wild flowers, Miss Emily Sartain, gives me a glimpse of her childhood.

Her letter reads:

"Your story brought back many happy memories. Yes, indeed, I have caught many a falling leaf, though I admit it is not easy. One has to be very nimble 'hop, skip and a-jumper'."

"This was a game we played regularly as children in England."

"Your article also recalled to me my very first week in Victoria, when I came here to live in October, 1946."

"I was living at a guest house on Burnside Road where there were four delightful children. I caught many leaves and we had lots of fun and we DID catch a few leaves."

"The idea is that players must first make a silent wish and then run and hope and jump to catch a leaf. If, at a long last, one succeeds, then one's wish should come true."

"By that time one has had good exercise, if nothing else."

"Although I have caught many a leaf, I cannot remember my wishes ever did come true, but I expect they did."

"I was surprised to find that children here did not know the game as it used to be as seasonable in England as 'hoops' and 'hopscotch'."

"Even now I can never see the leaves falling without wishing I had time to go out and play 'catching leaves.' What fun I could have on Cook Street with all the chestnut trees!"

Shower for Miss Sullivan

Mauve and white chrysanthemums decorated Marine Room, Sooke Harbour House, for a shower in honor of Miss Yvonne Sullivan. Gifts, under a pastel green crepe paper umbrella with floral decorated handle, were presented to the bride-elect by little Drena Sullivan and Randy Wilson, who will serve as flower girl and ring-bearer at Miss Sullivan's marriage to Mr. John Reubin on Saturday evening.

A white baby chenille bedspread was gift of hostesses Mrs. Frank Gray, Mrs. Les Lowe, Mrs. John Pearson, Mrs. Ray Pimlott, Mrs. James Dunn, Jr., Mrs. M. Hesp, Mrs. Stan Jones, Mrs. O. Sharpe, Mrs. Ken Shepherd, Mrs. Stan Giles, Mrs. Gordon Nixon, Mrs. Tim Goudie, Mrs. P. Elvin, Mrs. L. Pontius, Mrs. W. Douglas, Mrs. Banner, Mrs. Bill Cains, Mrs. Milt Gibson, Mrs. Rob Gibson, Mrs. Bob Hughes, Mrs. W. Butler, Mrs. R. Parmon, Mrs. Don Roberts, Miss Irene Way and Miss Elaine Butler.

Corsage of rosebuds was presented to the guest of honor by Mrs. Dunn and fuchsia corsages to her mother, Mrs. Anthony Sullivan, by Mrs. Goudie, and to her grandmother, Mrs. Frances Sullivan, by Mrs. Cains. Mrs. E. Arden, maternal grandmother of the bride-elect, who was unable to attend the shower, was also the recipient of a corsage. There were 100 guests.

The Canada Council Meets

Mrs. Margaret Harvey has returned to her Sylvan Lane home from Winnipeg, where she attended a three-day business meeting of the Canada Council. Council members were present at convocation of the University of Manitoba where Mr. Justice S. Freedman was installed as chancellor and Hon. Brooke Claxton, council chairman, received an honorary degree, also at opening of the Winnipeg Art Gallery and the opening of the new architectural building of the university to which the council had contributed $500,000. Members were able to view the Le Corbusier exhibition in the architectural building. The Canada Council met in Winnipeg in recognition of the Festival of Arts held there this year. Special guest was Sir Hugh Casson, director of architecture in the British Festival of Arts.

Sunday Baptism

Julie Margaret were the names received by the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McKay, of Langford, at a baptism service held in the Gordon Head United Church last Sunday. Rev. G. Daffergeld officiated. Godparents are Mr. Frank McKay and Mrs. A. Jackson, of Victoria. The baby's grandfather, Neil Smith, stood proxy for Mr. McKay. The maternal grandmother is Mrs. Caroline McKay, of Ireland, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Neil Smith, at whose Atkins Avenue home a reception was held following the ceremony. Special guests were uncles and aunts of the child.

Tea-Bazaar Makes $300

Yellow and blue color scheme was used to decorate Fellowship Hall on Langford's Gordon Head United Church for annual tea and bazaar sponsored by the Women's Association.

Mrs. Gordon Dangerefield, wife of the new minister, opened the affair which netted $300.

Mrs. F. Moseley, association president, and Mrs. Dangerefield acted as hostesses, and Mrs. A. Hull was general convener. In charge of stalls were Mrs. J. Jackson, home cooking; Mrs. R. Matthias, sewing; Mrs. A. Anderson, jewelry; Mrs. D. Flatman, plants; Mrs. V. Peterson, novelties, and Mrs. M. Pasch, knitting.

Mrs. A. Ramsfield convoked the tea.

A DECEMBER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Avison Chatwin announce the engagement of their only daughter, Patricia Anne, to Mr. Robert Victor Cheneff, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cheneff. The wedding will be held on Saturday, December 19, in First United Church. (Photos by Campbell Studio.)

Alberni Church Wedding

All Saints Church at Alberni was the setting for the recent marriage of Josephine Sybil Shennon Jennings and George Robert Reynolds.

Rev. P. Horsfield officiated at the ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Jennings, of South Pender Island, and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Reynolds, of Salt Spring Island end Victoria.

A white brocade sheath gown with net overskirt was worn by the bride for her wedding. She carried a colonial bouquet of Christmas roses and wore a family heirloom veil and an antique pearl brooch, also a family heirloom. Herbert A. Spalding gave the bride in marriage and Mrs. L. Barr sang during signing of the register. Miss M. Lyle was organist.

The bride's sister, Miss Janet H. Jennings, as the only attendant, wore a pale yellow brocade sheath dress with net overskirt and a tiny white hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of Christmas roses. The groom's cousin, Harvey Reynolds, was the best man.

The reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ritter, friends of the bride's family. Autumn flowers and white candles decorated the reception room, where Mrs. Jennings, wearing an olive green ensemble with black accessories, and the groom's mother, in a grey ensemble with red accessories, assisted in receiving guests. Capt. B. W. Y. Higgs proposed the toast.

The honeymoon was spent in Vancouver, the bride travelling in a coral mohair suit with white accessories. The couple are now making their home in Alberni.

Pattern for a Changing Career Discussed by Nurses' Association

OTTAWA (CP) — Curriculum for a changing career and a look at what makes happy nurses in their work are to be discussed at three national meetings of the Canadian Nurses' Association here this month.

The national association, representing some 50,000 registered nurses, held the first of its meetings this week with a three-day session of the national nursing service committee beginning Thursday.

With Sister Mary Felicitas of Montreal, director of the St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing, as chairman, this committee is looking at what nursing offers in the way of "job satisfactions."

Made up of nurse representatives from all provinces, the committee also is discussing nursing staff turnover, personnel policies and the profession's part in home care plans.

Davies-Sudlow Wedding in St. Luke's

St. Luke's Anglican Church was scene of recent wedding of Frances Edna Sudlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sudlow, 1631 Broadmead Avenue, and John Edward Davies, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davies of Shropshire, Eng. Canon F. Pike officiated at the evening ceremony.

Bride entered the church on the arm of her father. Her floor-length taffeta gown featured a semi-scooped bertha neckline of French lace flouncings, sprinkled with sparkling paillettes.

Appliques of embroidered lace highlighted the full skirt. She carried red roses and white carnations.

Both matron of honor, Mrs. H. Hartley, sister of the bride, and bridesmaid, Miss Helen Nilsson, wore pale green gowns and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Lammond Massey was best man and ushers were Bill Sistrer and Fredric Sudlow. Bridal toast was proposed by A. Beal at reception in the Golden Slipper following the ceremony.

Couple will make their new home in Victoria.

CLUB CALENDAR

Women's Benefit Association, Review No. 1, social evening, Monday, at 7.30 p.m., in Orange Hall.

Municipal Chapter, IOOE, Monday at 8 p.m. at headquarters, Courtney Street.

Some 40 nurses from across Canada are expected to attend a curriculum workshop here Nov. 23-25 to help the association take one more step toward co-ordinating nurse education curriculum across Canada.

CHANGING NEEDS
Provincial nurse associations have been working on curriculum changes aimed at bringing nurse education more closely in line with the changing needs and demands made on the profession.

Florence Elliott from the United States National League for Nursing in New York is to attend the workshop as a consultant.

Hazel Keeler of Saskatoon, director of the University of Saskatchewan School of Nursing and chairman of the CNA nursing education committee, is to attend the workshop meeting and then conduct a two-day follow-up meeting of her committee Nov. 26-27.

Miss Keeler's committee is expected to look at results of the workshop meeting, set up future plans for continuing curriculum study and discuss an association survey made on nursing school teaching staffs.

Norwegian Heirloom Jewelry Worn by Bride Astrid Strandlie

An heirloom Norwegian locket with four pearls and an emerald on pale blue enamel face, also ruby earrings and a Norwegian white bracelet, were worn as jewelry by lovely bride, Miss Astrid Strandlie last Saturday when she exchanged vows with Douglas James Henry Doidge in a service in St. John's Anglican Church. Canon George Biddle officiated.

Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jorgen Gunnar

Strandlie, 1619 Kisher Avenue, and her groom is son of Mrs. George D. Doidge, 1690 Yale Street, and the late G. D. Doidge.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of classic white bridal satin, fashioned with a scoop neckline and lily-point sleeves. An overlay of Chantilly lace covered the bodice and a floor-length panel at front. Graceful skirt swept to a cathedral-length train. Her hand-rolled chapel veil was held by a tiara of hand-made lace in fan design. She carried a cascade bouquet of Tallman roses. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Church was decorated with yellow, buff and bronze flowers for the candlelight ceremony. Organist Frederick Chubb played traditional music and Mrs. I. Paver was soloist.

Maid of honor, Miss Patsy Chu, wore a green taffeta dress with a short scalloped Chantilly lace jacket. Miss Danae O'Flynn and Miss Sonja Strandlie, sister of bride, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were in similar style in brown tones. All attendants wore self material bow bandeaux trimmed with short lace veils and carried cascades of yellow, buff and bronze chrysanthemums. All had white Norwegian jewelry in "autumn leaves" design, gift of bride.

Gerald Collison was best man and ushers were Robert Kinnaird, B. Brown, M. Bapty and D. Simpson.

Following the ceremony, newlyweds were piped from the church by W. Mossie.

Canadian Scottish Pipe Band, of which groom is a member, played at reception held in the Upper Lounge of Victoria Curling Club. A four-tier cake was cut with a dirk belonging to the major of the band—William Hogg proposed the toast.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Portland, the bride wore a blue dress and matching three-quarter length topcoat. Her hat was in tone. Accessories were in grey and she had a sapphire mink necklace. Her corsage was a white Eurkiss lily.

Couple will live at 3700 St. Aidan Street when they return.

League Holds First Annual Meeting

Mrs. G. S. McMorran was elected president of the Quila Nichol Service League to the Goodwill Enterprises, at first annual meeting held recently.

Other officers are Mrs. E. F. W. Cox, first vice-president; Mrs. G. Megaw, second; Mrs. A. Ashworth, treasurer; Mrs. E. Fryd, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. James Barr, recording secretary. Honorary president is Mrs. W. C. Nichol.

League was formed a year ago. Annual reports showed that in that year a "sale of treasures" was held; two teas and a supper were arranged for the "Goodwillies" in the workshop at headquarters and a garden tea given in the summer.

Two electric fans were donated to the workshop. Plans were made at the meeting for a Christmas supper for the workers.

Sunshine Guild Makes $152

Under auspices of the Guild of Sunshine, a sum of $152 was made at a tea and sale held recently in Mahon Hall, Ganges, Salt Spring Island.

Mrs. Waldo Rogers convened the tea, assisted by Mrs. S. Callbourne, Mrs. S. Bannister, Miss A. Hoffmann and Mrs. T. Ashlee. The president, Mrs. G. Lowe, assisted by Miss Helen Dean, presided at the head table, which was covered with a lace cloth, and centred with a crystal bowl of multi-colored chrysanthemums.

Stalls were convened as follows: Mrs. S. Kitchener, Mrs. W. Jameski, home cooking; Mrs. J. W. Catto, Mrs. Stanley Wagg, needlework; Mrs. W. Norton, Mrs. Wallis, plants, and Mrs. J. Surtees and Mrs. W. W. Hague, rummage.

Mrs. Henry Ashley and Miss Z. Manning were at the door and Mrs. W. Byers had the raffles. Piano solos were presented at the tea hour by Patrick Wolfe-Milner, Sharon Lee and Heather Anderson, pupils of Mrs. D. K. Crofton. Members of the Sunshine Guild were band, Shane Heinekey, Terry Wolfe-Milner, Gary Kaye and Ivan Aboli, also played for the gathering.

Use 'Pale' Cosmetics, Rosy Base

Unless you are a melting blonde with creamy skin and sapphire eyes, better skip this whole business of the so-called pale look. For the truth is that a bit of paint dresses a girl up, creates color where there wasn't any, puts sparkle in the eye and a glow in the cheek.

That's what cosmetics were meant to do. Not one woman in a hundred looks like a beauty with pale cheeks, pale lips and pale green eyeshadow. She's much more likely to look like something just helped from her coffin.

But that doesn't mean that you have to give up the pale look entirely if this fad pleases you. The whitened lipstick does very well over a deep red or deep pink shade. But please, make sure you have a really sizzling pink to start and don't go overboard on use of the white lipsticks.

Remember, you don't want to look as if you're in need of a massive dose of vitamins.

The notion that a tiny dab of perfume is "ladylike" is a carryover from the Victorian era. It's an extension of the attitude that once said that rouging was "fast" or that no nice woman colored her lips. In 1959, we make a daring use of make-up. In the big cities, false eyelashes, eye shadow and eye-liner are worn in the daytime. Perfume is worn all day long, just as it is in Europe.

But since the primary purpose of perfume is to give pleasure to yourself and others, don't be timid about applying it. The woman who can drift through a room leaving a trail of carnation scent didn't get that way by putting a dab behind one ear. She splashed herself in it liberally, thereby turning heads.

Use This Home Recipe Plan to Lose Ugly Fat

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky unsightly fat right in your own home. Use this recipe plan yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full twice a day and follow the Naran plan.

If your first purchase does not show you the simple way to lose loss bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blast disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and secure.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, Nov. 12th—Sweet and tender... no, this isn't a love story... though, mind you, you'll love the sweet and tender taste of AYLMER FANCY PEAS—ASSORTED SIZES. Look for them in the bright white tins, then take them home for a family taste treat. You'll agree, I'm sure, that Aylmer Fancy Peas are perfectly delicious. That's because they're grown on specially selected Canadian farms where sunshine, moisture and soil are ideal. Then, at exactly the right moment of growth, Aylmer rushes them, fresh-harvested, to its nearby canneries and seals and cooks them—often within an hour! Result: These sunshine-fresh Aylmer Fancy Peas are the best you ever tasted!

IT'S A GOOD HABIT! For better flavor—better nutrition—better food energy—add a slice of BLUE BONNET MARGARINE to all your vegetables! Be generous with it! Let it melt over hot green beans, potatoes, beets, broccoli, any vegetable! They're all doubly delicious with Blue Bonnet's goodness added to them. Blue Bonnet is made from the finest ingredients... pure vegetable oils and pasteurized skim milk, with Vitamins A and D added. "Everything's better with Blue Bonnet on it!" That's the phrase to remember when you buy margarine. So don't serve just any margarine—get Blue Bonnet today!

WORLD-FAMOUS CHEFS agree that beautifully served food stimulates appetite. So it's doubly disappointing when a delicious looking meal turns out to have just ordinary flavour. Well, here's good news!... you'll never, never be disappointed in the taste of your cooking when you add the flavour magic of MAGGI Chicken Bouillon Cubes. Add 2 or more cubes to rice, vegetables, stews, sauces and gravies. You'll also enjoy delicious Bouillon made in a minute, with one Maggi Cube. (Just over 2c a serving!) Ask your grocer for Maggi Chicken Bouillon Cubes in the yellow and red package.

I'M SINGING AS I WRITE... because it's such a pleasure to tell you about Wampole VITA-POPS, the new vitamins in candy form. VITA-Pops are cherry-flavored... look and taste just like candies. Yet, thanks to science, they provide your active child with exactly the right amount of 8 precious vitamins he needs each day—including vitamins A, C, D and B12. Nothing could be simpler than giving your youngsters a Vita-Pop every day, and there's nothing more satisfying than knowing they're getting the vitamins they require for health and growth. Get a 5 weeks' supply for $2.50; or if there's more than one child in the family, a 15 weeks' supply for only $5.95.

THREE CHEERS FOR THE WISE and cheery mother who whips up bowls of piping hot RED RIVER CEREAL for her lucky family through these chill winter months. The family will be cheery too, as they enjoy the nutty wholesome blend of cracked wheat, flax and rye—the secret of Red River's long-time popularity. There's nothing like it, believe me. We've used it in our family since I was a child—now I enjoy making it for my son. Red River provides the energy values youngsters need, while sedentary workers and older folks find it guards regularity. Everybody enjoys Red River Cereal—so I know you and yours will, too!

WHAT'S A SPENDING ACCOUNT? It's what keeps my finances out of mischief, that's all! Here's how it works: My spending account is my Personal Chequing Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL. Into it, promptly each payday, I deposit my money to cover my regular expenses. Into my savings account goes what I can spare from the balance of my income. My spending account pays the bills and keeps my budget straight, while the money in my savings account just grows and grows. Believe me, a B of M account for spending and one for saving is what every housewife needs. See your neighbourhood branch of the B of M next payday.

SING A SONG IN PRAISE... of the delectable AYLMER Green Tomato Pickles—one of the fine pickles created by Aylmer for your family's pleasure. They have that sunshine-fresh Aylmer flavour—which brings taste delight in so many ways... with cold meats; and with hot roasts, too! Add them to your buffet for an appealing colour note. Spread your sandwiches with them. Do pick up some of the fine Aylmer Pickles—this week—the Sweet Mixed, Small Gherkins, Sweet Wafer Pickles—and these Green Tomato Pickles with the home-made flavour, and the famous Aylmer insistence upon perfection.

I HAVE A LARGE NUMBER of grateful letters before me, from men and women who had suffered from neuritic, arthritic or rheumatic pain. In these letters they have related their wonderful experience in finding long-sought relief through TEMPLETON'S TRC's. Some had been in pain for many years; for others it had been a new agony. Some found help quickly, while others had to persist, wisely, until they were free. All of these people are eager to tell others of their newly won freedom from the excruciating suffering of neuritic, arthritic or rheumatic pain. Do try TRC's yourself and tell others about them.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Loose Tongues Always Wag!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I gave my husband four beautiful daughters. We would have liked a boy but, like everyone, we took what we got and liked it.

At every family gathering my in-laws always bring up the subject of how nice it would be if we had a son to carry on the name. I cannot have any more children so this is out of the question. What can I say to these people when they tell me how sad it is that we don't have a son to carry on the family name? They certainly irritate me.

IRRITATED: Tell them that you'd have been happy to have had a son. But a woman cannot reap boys when her husband plants girls. And smile your brightest when you inform them that it is common knowledge that the sex of a child is determined by the father!

DEAR ABBY: When I was married, 26 of my husband's relatives pitched in and gave me a waffle iron. (They got it wholesale, too.)

One of the aunts who was in on this gift happens to be very well-to-do. This aunt is moving into a new home and all the relatives are giving her a house-warming. She "requested" individual cash gifts rather than presents because she is afraid she might get things that won't look good in her house.

I figured out that her share of my waffle iron was about a dollar. If you were in my place, what would you give her?

DEAR GYPED: If you believe in "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," she is entitled to a dollar. However, since it is your husband's aunt, pass the buck and let him decide.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a minister and he is besieged by these neurotic women who are always demanding that their minister come to their homes for private consultations. I know that the minister is expected to visit "shut-ins." But I am speaking now of women who are separated from their husbands and tell their ministers all the intimate details which should concern only their doctors and lawyers. Should my husband bother seeing these women?

NO NAMES PLEASE. DEAR NO NAMES: Your husband, because of the nature of his profession, like the physician and lawyer, must listen to a certain amount of neurotic complaints. Don't add to his problems by protesting too much. His job is tough enough as it is.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LENDY: When her birthday comes around, forget her past, but remember her present.

What's your problem? For a personal reply write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SOCIAL WORKER PLEADS FOR LOW-RENT HOUSING

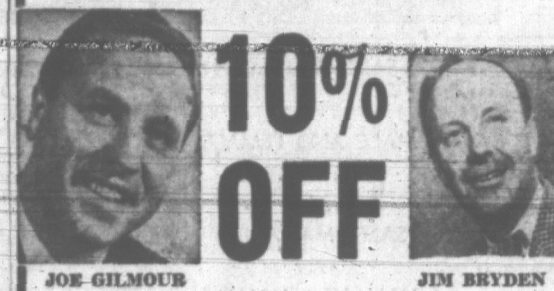

OTTAWA (CP)—"Where shall the poor man dwell?" The question is put to city planners by social worker Ada Greenhill.

She wonders whether people in comfortable homes "can realize or even be sensitive to the headaches and heartaches of parents of low income, who must bring up their children in sub-standard dwellings."

People who believe in the traditional values of homes and family life should support low-rent housing programs "so that no man need be ashamed of his home," Miss Greenhill writes in a Canadian Welfare Council bulletin. She is the supervisor of Catholic Family Services in Ottawa.

"Otherwise, city planners will go on with slum clearance, super-highways, great buildings and all the works of progress except the important one—where shall the poor man dwell?"

Swing to Home Parties, Expert Says

TORONTO (CP)—The trend is to home parties, says Mary Smith-Howard, a party consultant in Toronto for the past five years.

She says the popularity of recreation rooms, outdoor cooking facilities and swimming pools has brought about a casual, relaxed manner of entertaining.

Parties are getting smaller, too, and more intimate. "People used to invite 50 or 60 guests," she explained, "but now they'll have two parties with 25 people at each."

Square dancing remains popular for both young and old. European immigrants, who are fond of folk dancing, adapt quickly to square dancing, she says.

Cake, ice cream and "pop" remain the favorite items on the menu for children's parties. During the holiday season, entertainment such as a clown or magician is often added as a special treat.

Women love to have a fortune teller at their parties. "Men like them too, but won't admit it," she says.

She anticipates a sharp increase in parties for teenagers. "Their parents feel it is better for them to bring their friends home," she said.

JORDANS GREATEST-EVER BROADLOOM SALE!

Western Canada's Largest Rug Dealers guarantee you will SAVE at least 20% on regular top-quality imported lines!

There must be good reasons for a sale of this magnitude! One of them is the trend to wider rooms—we're drastically reducing our stock of 9-foot wide broadloom. Another reason is the reduction and balancing of our huge stock for year-end inventory. It all adds up to genuine savings of many, many dollars in beautifying your home. Don't delay—come in and see for yourself or phone for a Jordan expert to bring large samples to your home. Sale lasts one week only.

EMU
WINES AND BRANDY

Emu 999 Tawny Port

Specially matured and blended, this distinguished dessert wine has won 4 International Gold Medal Awards. It is vinified from the juice of carefully selected ripe grapes. When at vintage time the correct degree of sweetness is reached, it is fortified with pure brandy. Years of maturing give it that distinctive flavour which delights the connoisseur.

Smith Promises 'Land Deal' Probe

Donald Smith, mayoralty candidate in the city's Dec. 10 elections, told a rally of 75 supporters Thursday he will call for an inquiry "under oath" concerning the firehall site levelling and the View Street mall project.

Many lots, he claimed, were involved in "city deals."

"I don't like transactions going on that seem to have suspicion about them."

He intimated that certain persons had known about the projected developments before-hand, and made bids on the property concerned.

"Suspicions," he said, "could only be cleared up by a thorough investigation."

An orchestral trio introduced proceedings in the first electoral rally connected with the election race for mayor.

Mr. Smith heads the slate of the Victoria Civic Voters' Association. He appeared on the platform with the slate's aldermanic candidates John D. Carlow and Victor Williams. Candidates Alan Bigelow and Bruce Passmore were not present.

"One of our good supporters rented this hall and supplied the orchestra," said Mr. Smith.

Chamber of Commerce Criticized

The mayoralty candidate plugged for a "graduated" business tax and at the same time scored the Chamber of Commerce.

"The Chamber of Commerce can influence the city council... it kept the business tax out of here until 1957."

He alleged that the Chamber of Commerce had kept business out of the city, rather than bringing it in.

On city administration, he said, theoretically, "you must bring in things that are unpopular to get good government."

Mr. Smith also said that if "a firm hand" was shown, Victoria would pay less for schools and buildings. This would mean a stronger approach with the provincial government. (Mr. Smith is an MLA.)

People, he said, had been "hoodwinked" by city hall in many questions, and at a later date he would state exactly how this had been done.

Mr. Williams, first speaker, said he wanted to jerk up the "old fogies" here who were being "fleeced" as taxpayers.

He said Mayor Percy Scurren was influenced by "a chamber down the hall."

Victoria's administration on policy, he said, was not brought in by city hall, but brought "into" city hall.

He advocated also an "open door" policy in city hall, where "futility" would be lost when a taxpayer wanted an answer to a question.

Japanese Ship Sinks

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese freighter sank Tuesday in heavy seas kicked up by a late-season typhoon and 20 of its 39 crew members are missing, the Japanese coast guard reported. The 2,712-ton Nikkai Maru, loaded with timber from the Philippines, sprang a leak about 500 miles east of Formosa. Two Japanese freighters rushed to the scene.

TOP B.C. BRIDGE BUILDER

'Good Scout' Feted By Engineer Friends

A former deputy minister of public works and "dean of civil service engineers," Alex L. Carruthers, 80, was honored by his friends and colleagues at a testimonial dinner at the Union Club, Thursday.

"We wanted him to know what a good scout we think he is," said engineering consultant Russell E. Potter.

He said Mr. Carruthers, who is still a practising consultant here with the firm of A. B. Sanderson, is known in his profession as the finest bridge engineer in British Columbia. He is credited with much of the planning in the construction of the Point Ellice Bridge in 1957.

But as the dinner guests were told, his career dates back to the days when major

PRESS FREE ALL RIGHT, BUT NOT TO BE RUDE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Freedom of the press does not licence impudent reporters to ask rude or offensive questions, Fred S. Auger, publisher of the Vancouver Province, said here Thursday.

In a service club address Mr. Auger described the press as the eyes, ears and voice of the people. It assumes the responsibility of maintaining a vigilance over the governments which helps restrain any tendency of an elected assembly to exceed its authority.

Freedom of the press simply is the right and responsibility to keep the public informed on public affairs and the right to speak freely without censorship and fear of persecution.

"It does not imply the right of a member of the press to enter any place where the public at large is excluded," said Mr. Auger.

"Freedom of the press does not licence an impudent reporter or radio interviewer to ask or expect an answer to rude and offensive questions."

3 Found Guilty In Winery Theft

Three of six young men facing a joint charge of burglary and theft at Growers Wine Co. Ltd. Oct. 29 were found guilty at the end of a two-day trial in Saanich police court Thursday.

The other three previously pleaded guilty to the charge and all were remanded to next week for probation reports and sentence.

Found guilty were Jack Alfred Hamilton Goodman, 24, of 1641 Cedar; Ronald Victor Morry, no fixed address, and Edmond Keith Adkins, 22, of 1641 Cedar, who originally pleaded not guilty.

They will be sentenced next Thursday by Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

Lawrence Thomas Montgomery, 633 Cornwall; Arthur William Reeve, 22, of 1344 Pandora, and Robert Douglas Malcolm, 1425 Fernwood, who originally pleaded not guilty and changed their pleas Tuesday, were remanded to next Wednesday for sentence.

HAD RECORDS

Criminal records for Montgomery, Morry and Malcolm were read to the court by prosecutor Kenneth Murphy.

Arguing against the defence contention that Morry, Goodman and Adkins were unaware of the plan by the others to break into the winery, Mr. Murphy maintained all were party to the offence.

The Criminal Code says anyone is guilty of an offence who knows of it or aids in committing it, the prosecutor said.

He termed the story that the group of youths in a car were "looking for a party" in the Lake Hill area that night as "fantastic," adding that Montgomery's story, spoken in defence of the other three, "does more than anything else to involve them."

"CONCOCTED"

"There is no doubt in my mind that this was a concocted scheme, that you went to the winery with a purpose. You were going to a party (and) ... needed something to take to it," Magistrate Thomas said.

The defence had maintained that when the carload of youths stopped on Greenridge Road behind the winery they were "checking houses" for the location of the alleged party.

Later they parted at two houses, including Reeve's, where five cases of missing wine and two cases of orange bitters, of about $300 value, were found by police.

Police Chase Crash Kills 1, Injures 4

MONTREAL (CP)—A 22-year-old woman was killed and four other persons critically injured early today when a car being chased by police at 85 miles an hour crashed head-on into another.

The dead woman, identified as Elizabeth Bone, was a passenger in the car when struck by the fleeing vehicle. Injured were Alfred Piuze, 21; Roger Fournier, 21; Montreal East, and another man not yet identified.

Rented City Hall Suggested

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot Thursday suggested that Victoria try to lease half of the Belmont Building for a city hall.

He said the present City Hall should be vacated as unsafe.

"We've no right to be here. It's too dangerous. Actually no insurance company would insure us for accidents in normal times," he said.

His remarks appeared to be prompted by last week's collapse of some ceiling plaster in the city engineer's department and a corridor outside of city council chambers.

Ald. Proudfoot asked council to consider his suggestion seriously.

He said the city could try to arrange for use of the federal grants in lieu of taxes as lease payments for rental of the Belmont Building.

The city does not have enough money to build a new city hall.

Several federal offices in the Belmont Building will be moved soon he said.

Parking for city hall staff could be created by an extension of the proposed addition to the Black Ball Ferry wharf near the building.

Ald. Proudfoot said that leasing city hall space would add the advantage that the city could wait for a decade or so to see whether or not amalgamation would ever take place before committing itself to a new city hall structure.

Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of a special committee studying city hall proposals, said he would call the group's first meeting soon for consideration of Ald. Proudfoot's suggestion among others.

City to Canvass Juvenile Court

Will Approach Other Municipalities On Plan to Settle Family Troubles

Victoria will approach sister municipalities for establishment of joint family and juvenile courts.

City council Thursday instructed a committee to prepare a plan for the step.

The decision was taken after a majority of aldermen turned down a bid by Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson to leave it to inter-municipal committee to deal with a recommendation from the attorney-general's department that a joint court be established.

Ald. M. H. Mooney said city council should endorse the principle and proceed in enlisting the support of the other municipalities.

WANTS OTHERS IN

Ald. Geoffrey Edgell said he did not think he could support the "costly" proposal unless the other municipalities shared the burden.

Ald. Arthur Dowell said the city should "take the bull by the horns and start negotiating with Saanich" while ignoring Oak Bay and Esquimalt because their municipal councils had expressed open opposition to the proposal.

But council decided on a compromise which would result in negotiations with all four municipalities.

COST NEGLIGIBLE

Ald. Wilson said it would cost only $3,000 a year to operate the court in the health and welfare centre on a temporary basis.

'Anti-Slate' Man Seeks Election To City Council

James A. Dinsmore, 1422 Harrison, Thursday joined the Victoria election race for an aldermanic seat.

A retired electrician, he said he was running on an anti-slate ticket to oppose the city's administration "being handed over to any body of men who are bonded together to force their will on the electorate."

"In my firm opinion, the business of the city of Victoria is big business and should not be dictated or run at the whim of any organization, but should be left in the hands of men of independent mind and who are not subject to any outside influence."

Whipper Watson Wins on Early Tag

The Whip claims that, at this annual match with winter, I'm ahead of the game right from the start "cause I got an early Green Tag." Whipper is referring to the Green "Prestone" Anti-Freeze Tag that's attached to his radiator. It's proof that he has "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze in his car's cooling system. And that's protection against frost, corrosion, rust, clogging and foaming.

"What's more" says Whipper "with 'Prestone' Anti-Freeze I also have magnetic film going for me—the extra protection of a coating all through the cooling system. This magnetic coating effectively seals off rust—actually prevents it from forming." Follow Whipper's lead... get an early Green Tag this winter.

10 BELOW GRIDIRON FOR BOMBERS VS. ESKS

WINNIPEG—The weatherman says it may be 10 below zero Saturday when the Blue Bombers tackle Edmonton Eskimos for the second game of the western football championship.

However, a tarpaulin which covers the gridiron may keep the footing fairly soft. The game will be nationally televised, starting at 12 noon on CHEK here.

In the East, Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders will play the opener of the eastern finals.

Who's Next For Bomber?

NEW YORK (UPI)—A normally quiet neighborhood on Staten Island was clutched by fear today. Housewives were afraid to go outdoors. Car owners approached garage doors with terror.

SHIP CRIPPLED BY EXPLOSION OFF ISLAND

SEATTLE (UPI)—An explosion in the No. 1 boiler left the attack cargo ship USS Skagit dead in the water about 100 miles north of Vancouver Island today.

A full complement of 250 officers and crew and about 65 marines were aboard the 15,000-ton ship. No injuries were reported.

Navy headquarters here said the No. 2 boiler in the 459-foot ship also went out and the ship was completely without power.

The tug Tatnuck out of Bremerton, Wash., has been diverted to proceed to the crippled ship and the Coast Guard cutter Winona out of Port Angeles, Wash., also was en route.

50 WOUNDS

When Mrs. Giarletta got out of her husband's car in front of their garage Tuesday night the blast from a planted hand grenade, triggered as she raised the overhead garage door, tore off her legs and slashed at her body. She received more than 50 wounds. Mrs. Giarletta died Thursday.

Police reported they had assigned a guard to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trachta because a rough voice on the telephone had said: "Your garage is next."

Mrs. Trachta was nearly hysterical. So were many others. More than 50 residents asked police to search their garages. Others were afraid to put their cars away and autos stood at the curbs throughout the area.

Detectives found no motive for the Giarletta bombing or for the Trachta threat.

An investigator said: "The trap was an old trick. Any infantryman or army engineer would have known that once the door was raised, the triggered grenade would explode in three seconds."

Fragments of the grenade bore a serial number. Police are checking the number with all military installations in the area.

9-Year-Old Hero as Four Flee Flames

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP)—Nine-year-old Brian McBurnie saved his mother and two younger children today when fire swept through their home in this community near Vancouver.

Brian, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McBurnie, awoke early this morning and smelled smoke. He dashed downstairs and awakened his mother and younger sister Patsy, eight.

Then the lad returned upstairs, through heavy smoke, for his brother Billie, two. Brian carried Billie to safety downstairs.

All four escaped without injury. Mr. McBurnie was on a hunting trip at the time of the fire, which destroyed the home and caused damage estimated at $15,000. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

"Brian did a wonderful thing," his mother said later. "The smoke and flames were between him and me. I am a heavy sleeper and I'd never have awakened in time if he hadn't come for us."

Flurries Expected To Start Saturday

Victoria will have snow flurries Saturday, weatherman William Mackie predicted today. Temperature will drop to 28 and lower later.

They will be the result of a mild weather disturbance, which gave snow in the Queen Charlotte Islands today, jousting with the Arctic air now firmly entrenched over the coast.

There will be increasing cloudiness tonight and generally cloudy skies Saturday, with temperatures on the critical line where the slightest deviation up or down can mean either rain or snow.

COLDEST OF SEASON

"We are calling for snow," he said. "The only question is when it will start."

Temperatures overnight ranged between 24 and 28 degrees in the Greater-Victoria areas, lowest reached this season.

JUST RESPIRE

Minimum tonight will be between 28 and 30 degrees, and Saturday's maximum will be 38 degrees, but that will be "just a respite," Mr. Mackie said.

"Arctic air is strengthening in the Yukon," he said, "and it will help to keep things as they are now."

The wintry conditions are expected to last over the weekend.

CANADA FREEZES

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Western Canada was in the grip of below-freezing temperatures today while in other parts of the country the weather ranged from wet snow in most of Southern Ontario to rain in parts of the Maritimes.

Temperatures plunged to the low 20s on the lower B.C. mainland while interior districts such as Kamloops and Prince George were expected to have temperatures from zero to 20 below.

Forecasts today for Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba call for temperatures well below the zero mark. Temperatures were expected to climb slightly higher in western Alberta today but higher winds were also predicted to maintain the chill.

Southern Ontario Thursday night experienced its heaviest snowfall this season with depths ranging from four inches in the Toronto area. Another snowfall is predicted tonight. Temperatures were expected to rise today to the high 30s.

Howling Storms Lash U.K. Coast

LONDON (Reuters)—Pelting rain driven by gale-force winds today washed away heavy fog that had covered wide areas of northwestern Europe Thursday.

Disturbed weather and forecasts of more to come were reported from Scotland to Rome.

Storms lashed the southwestern English coast and the northwestern coast of France. Winds of 104 miles an hour were recorded in Cornwall, and Brittany was battered by 95-mile-an-hour gusts. Gale warnings were issued to shipping in the eastern Atlantic, Irish Sea, North Sea and English Channel.

Typhoon Rips Havoc In Okinawa

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—Typhoon Emma blasted through Okinawa early today with winds of more than 110 miles an hour ripping roofs from houses, uprooting trees and causing landslides.

This city was flooded with water six feet deep in low-lying areas. Debris, mud and water soaked many shops, damaging thousands of dollars worth of merchandise.

No deaths or serious injuries were reported in the Naha area, but contact was broken with the northern part of the island where typhoon Charlotte last month killed 45 people.

The weather bureau in Tokyo said the storm was expected to pass 170 miles east of the main Japanese islands.

ROADS BLOCKED

Snow fell in Scotland and the English Midlands, blocking several roads. Rain, hail and snow swept as far south on the Continent as Italy.

The heavy weather on the North Sea hindered ships and aircraft searching for a British jet pilot believed to be on a rubber life raft off the Dutch coast.

The pilot, identified only as FO-R. M. West, took off on Wednesday from the Allied air base at Jever, northwest Germany, on a training flight.

SHIPPING HELD UP
Gales with gusts of nearly 60 miles an hour swept northwestern England today and caused delays to shipping in the Mersey River.

The 27,738-ton Cunard liner Britannia and the 25,585-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of England were unable to leave their berths in the Liverpool docks to embark passengers at the landing stage.

A lifeboat spokesman at Hastings, southern England, said rough seas prevented them from going out after receiving a report of a ship in distress about nine miles southeast of the town.

Intense Cold Along Rockies

DENVER (AP)—Intense cold that plunged temperatures to near-record lows locked the Rocky Mountain states in a wintry grip today on the heels of a 25-inch snowfall that buried Montana.

The temperature was 22 below zero today at Cut Bank, near the Montana-Alberta border.

Sub-zero readings were common from Montana south into Colorado along the eastern slope of the Rockies.

Four-Way Vote On Fluoridation

City Council Last in District To Order December Referendum

A Greater Victoria vote on fluoridation was clinched on Thursday when city council ordered a December referendum on the controversial issue.

A split vote among aldermen made the city the final municipality to order a referendum. Oak Bay and Saanich previously promised their residents a vote. Esquimalt council, after rejecting the proposal, changed its mind earlier this week.

Ald. Elmer McEwen, who argued against fluoridation, Ald. A. I. Curtis and Mayor

Percy Scourrah opposed a city referendum for this year.

Ald. M. H. Mooney, Ald. Geoffrey Edgell, Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald. D. J. Proudfoot and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson took the stand that the people are in a position to give their views and should be allowed to settle the question this December.

Fluoride Vote Poison—McEwen

Ald. McEwen, reading from what he called "the bible of the pharmaceutical world," described fluoride as a violent poison.

"No doctor has come to me as an individual and supported fluoridation. He will in the (medical) association, yes, because that's the only way he can keep his licence," he said. He said council should not order a referendum unless it

U.K. FORCES EASE UP

No More Jankers For 'Orrible Men

LONDON (Reuters)—The British Army and the RAF today introduced a new and less-severe code of punishment as part of a long-range program to "humanize" the fighting forces.

The new measures, announced Thursday night, abolish what British soldiers have known as "jankers," the traditional punishment for a wide range of lesser offences against discipline.

Jankers, or confinement to barracks, meant that a soldier could not leave base, had to answer a barrack roll call at regular intervals and had to peel potatoes and do other menial jobs during his spare time. Jankers sentences could run up to 42 days.

The new punishment is termed "restriction of privileges." A restricted soldier will have to answer only one roll call and will have to do less spare-time work. The maximum sentence will be 28 days.

War Secretary Christopher Soames told the House the old system had become "more an irritant than a corrective," nounced with it constitute a further attempt to render military service sufficiently attractive to enable Britain to switch from a conscript army to an entirely volunteer force in line with announced government policy.

The Canadian forces have a still less severe punishment system for minor offences than the new British plan.

Maximum sentences ran up to 14 days. The offender is confined to barracks and when not performing his normal duties is given extra fatigues and extra training.

POLICE LACK CLUES IN ART THEFT AT UBC

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rewards were expected to be posted today for the return of paintings valued at $40,000, stolen from the art gallery at the University of British Columbia.

A spokesman for an insurance adjusting firm said a cash reward of up to 10 per cent of the value of each painting likely will be offered. He declined to identify himself or his firm.

Meanwhile, RCMP investigators said today they still have no solid lead on the thieves who broke into the basement library early this week and took the paintings from a travelling exhibition.

'BROUGHT UP BY FLEMING'

Bennett Denies Power Tax Bid

Premier Bennett today denied charges he had appealed at Ottawa for abolition of corporation taxes now collected from private utilities such as the B.C. Electric.

"It wasn't brought up by me. It was brought up by Fleming," he said, in reference to federal Finance Minister Donald Fleming.

The premier told a press conference this morning he would break his rule of not discussing talks held in camera. He was incensed at remarks by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan, that the premier was spending public time at Ottawa arguing for tax concessions for private power firms, to the detriment of the government-owned B.C. Power Commission.

EACH PROVINCE ASKED
The premier said Mr. Fleming asked each province for its views on the federal corporation tax as applied to private utilities.

Cut Prices, Britons Asked

LONDON (UPI)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Derick Heathcoat Amory urged British industry today to cut prices to keep the bloom on Britain's boom.

Amory, speaking to the National Production Advisory Council, said Britain had "a magnificent chance to continue expansion without inflation."

"Maintenance of the present buoyant level of (business) activity depends on the continuance of price stability, and the continuance of that stability depends on price reductions being made where they can," he said.

WHO'D DO A HOODOO ON SUCH A FAIR 13TH?

TORONTO (CP)—No morbid fear of the number 13 disturbs the rural foundation of this year's Royal Winter Fair.

Officially opened today, Friday the 13th by one of the fair's top judges, the Duke of Northumberland, the Royal will give away 1,300 roses to the first 1,300 women entering the horse show arena. Oddly enough, 1,300 entries have been received for the horse show.

Billed as the world's largest indoor agricultural exhibition, the fair has 118 judges who will distribute $148,000 in prize money and more than four miles of ribbons.

Millions of dollars worth of prize livestock goes on display, including 3,000 cattle, 5,300 poultry, 1,000 sheep and 700 swine.

When the weather's bad all over it don't seem as bad as it is—but it is.

Then there wuz th' anti-fluoridationist who thought fluorine w'd affect his bones—an' it went t' his head.

What's this? Canada's Conservative gov'mint votin' on th' French atomic test 'with Russia an' against Britain'? Seems I heard that phrase aroun' Suez time.

'MISTAKE' CORRECTED

Change in sex was disclosed in Miami today by Mrs. Charlotte Heidal, 34, a former U.S. soldier who became a woman after a series of operations in Denmark. "All I did was correct a mistake," she said after a month of happy married life. (AP Wire-photo.)

FOLDIN' STUFF IS GOLDEN, TOO

If you plan on robbing a bank don't take gold—or you'll have a hard job making your getaway. Pretty Wendy Burbridge, 138 Robertson, had difficulty holding these two bars, part of a bullion display on show at the main branch, Bank of Montreal. But she didn't have any difficulty holding on to $15,000 in bills—the equivalent, currency-wise, of the bullion. The large bar, weighing 403.76 troy ounces, is worth $13,854. The ounce-bar is worth $35. Purpose of the display, open to the public until Nov. 27, is to stimulate public interest in gold-bullion. Just in case you get any ideas about walking out with the gold, an armed guard is on duty at all times.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have just learned we are coming to the end of Youth Appreciation Week.

(I am forever learning about things when they are coming to an end, or even later.)

So I must hasten to get my word of appreciation for Youth.

It is not that I wouldn't have been happy to appreciate Youth like all get-out, each and every day of the past week.

I am an old and willing hand at appreciating Youth.

It is just that I have been so busy appreciating the fact I am still alive that Youth Appreciation Week escaped my attention.

However, it has my attention now. And I will bow to none in my appreciation of Youth.

In fact, believe I am at the ideal age to appreciate Youth.

There are still a few friends and acquaintances of mine, who count even more years than I, who call me "young man."

Needless to say, this thrills me to the very core of my varicose veins.

Not many years from now, I will have heard my very last "young man," unless I happen to encounter someone well north of the century mark.

But while I may, I intend to appreciate Youth to its fullest.

This is best done, I think, by those of my age—sneaking up on the half-century mark, if you must know—because we are young enough to remember what we wish to remember of our youth, and old enough to filter out the memories best forgotten.

Thus we half-hundreds have no trouble at all appreciating Youth.

Even if we are not certain just when Youth begins, or when it ends.

At our advanced age, there is one thought we have about Youth appreciation:

Those who are least apt to appreciate Youth are youths.

But I can't criticize. I said, earlier, I am forever learning about things when they come to an end, or even later.

Residential Chest Drives Twice Yearly

Justin V. Harbord, president of Victoria Community Chest, today proposed that, starting next April, the Chest should hold two residential canvasses annually.

"This appears to be necessary since Greater Victoria is primarily a residential district," Mr. Harbord said, "and we are thus unable to look to substantial increased giving from industry or by payroll deduction."

Mr. Harbord made the announcement this afternoon when it was known that 1959 chest campaign will not reach its objective of $325,000. But the chest still hopes to raise $300,000 before the campaign closes.

PLEDGE NEGLECTED

"The majority of residential donors do not use the pledge system," he said, "but donate what is convenient at the time of the canvass."

"These people, I am sure, would gladly donate twice a year if asked to do so."

Mr. Harbord said, although the campaign had not reached its goal, Greater Victorians can be proud of the fact that in two years they have increased their giving by approximately 35 per cent.

"The board of directors are most grateful for this generous support and particularly to the thousands of warm-hearted people who gave not only money but countless hours of their time in volunteer effort."

Mayor Predicts Second Bylaw On Parking Mall

Smith Blamed For Higher Cost

Mayor Percy Scurrell today said his mayoralty opponent, J. Donald Smith, is "flogging a dead horse" in attacking the View Street $1,000,000 bylaw.

The mayor said the bylaw will not be enough to build the proposed parking and mall development now because of the increase in interest rates and building costs since it was approved by ratepayers last December.

"The ex-alderman (Mr. Smith) must accept responsibility for that increase in cost," he said.

The mayor said, before the project is begun "we will put a new bylaw to the people based on the new costs with a view to finding out if they wish to support it."

(Mr. Smith, who has launched a court action against the bylaw, promised at a public meeting Thursday that he would launch a special inquiry into circumstances surrounding the project proposal if he is elected Dec. 10. See story, Page 32.)

"This person stopped the project by a technicality and now, after a year's delay, he proposes to investigate it," said the mayor.

NEEDED STUDY

"Why didn't he investigate it first and then, if found sufficient reason, enter a legal action?"

"However, he went off half-cocked and stopped the project on a technicality."

"In supporting the parking building and mall, I am only acting as the agent of the people who have voted for it."

The mayor said ratepayers approved the project in an effort to insure that the downtown area would continue in the high-assessment bracket.

He said if business was lost to suburban shopping centres the downtown area would deteriorate and "that would mean an increase in taxation on the homeowner and that must be avoided at all costs."

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Assiniboine, Margaree, Fraser return 2 p.m. Wednesday. Fortune, Cowichan, Miramichi, James Bay return 2.30 p.m. Dec. 3.

Premier Gives 'Push' To North Island Road

DOCKSIDE STEAM TRIALS FOR PT. ANGELES FERRY

Victoria came a step closer to sea connection with Port Angeles Thursday when dockside steaming trials started at Seattle for the new ferry Mv. Coho.

The Coho was built for Black Ball Transportation Company of Seattle. Sea trials are expected to start early next month, and the vessel should be in service on the Seattle-Port Angeles-Victoria route before Christmas.

The ferry's name comes from the ancient Coast Indian Salish language, and means "salmon."

PACIFIST LOOKS AT MR. K's VISIT

American Women Prodding Men On Disarmament

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Premier Khrushchev's recent visit to the United States has "revolutionized" public opinion towards Russia, a leading woman pacifist said here today.

"The women of America are very impressionable and since this visit they no longer see the Russian people as monsters," declared Mrs. Magda Trocme from Versailles, France.

"They were much impressed by the Russian premier and his wife and they are bringing pressure to bear on their menfolk to see that his proposals for peace are not ignored."

Born in Italy of Italian-Russian parentage, brown-eyed Mrs. Trocme is co-secretary of the pacifist organization The Fellowship of Reconciliation (F.O.R.). She shares this work with her husband who is a Protestant Church minister in Versailles.

"We have been pacifists since the end of the First World War," she said in an interview. "Our interpretation of pacifism is non-violent resistance with spiritual and moral weapons..."

"But, of course, in certain circumstances no one can be a pacifist."

On a lecture tour of North America, Mrs. Trocme is pleading for a better understanding of Soviet Russia based on her extensive travels in the Soviet Union.

She came here Thursday night to address a meeting at Metropolitan United Church sponsored by the Peace by Peaceful Means Society, which was formed in Victoria just a year ago.

'Never Known Freedom as We Know It'

"I am not a Communist," she declared, "but I understand it and I know that in many ways it is good for Russia at the present time. To appreciate this you have to understand that the Russian people have never known freedom as we know it."

"Their idea of freedom is freedom from hunger and want such as they knew before Communism. Communism has given them absolute security with all education and medical expenses paid and a seven-hour working day. And no one earning less than 400 rubles (about $100) a month pays any income tax."

Mrs. Trocme raised a laugh when in her quaint but forceful English she said:

"They only pay income tax when they live, not when they are dead. They cannot understand why we have to pay taxes for dying."

Mrs. Trocme explained that most Russians have savings accounts and can leave their savings to anyone they choose. But these bequests are never enough to keep anyone in idleness.

"Everyone works and it is true they are directed to employment by the state. They have a choice of two or three occupations but if they do not do their work properly they will be moved into something else."

Mrs. Trocme said most Russians today are studying in their leisure time. She watched an elevator boy studying a philosophical work while waiting for passengers.

"I am expected to study whenever I can," he told her, "but if I neglect my work on the elevator I get moved to some other job whether I like it or not."

Mrs. Trocme recalled that under the Czarist regime farm workers were bought and sold with the farms they worked on. They knew nothing else so could not quit it.

'... So Long as They Eat Every Day'

"This is what the Communists call liberation from serfdom," she said. "And just as many Russians were sent to Siberia by the Czar as by the Communist state. They have never known what we call freedom of thought."

"They do not care much if their government is right or wrong so long as they can eat every day."

Mrs. Trocme admitted the Communists are intolerant of certain religions which they believe have kept people in poverty, and she mentioned Roman Catholic Spain as an example.

"However, there is more religious freedom in Russia today than for many years. There are so many religions they have to use the same churches on different days of the week."

"I do not think we in the West have absolute religious freedom. I do not think a church minister who took an absolutely pacifist stand in wartime would be allowed to keep his pulpit."

Mrs. Trocme is convinced capitalism and communism can co-exist peacefully as the Catholics and Protestants have learned to do.

"We have progressed towards world peace. The United Nations Organization is an improvement on the old League of Nations and before long we will evolve something better than the UN. It is evolutionary."

"But my greatest fear is that in a few years time the Russian people will be as comfortable and prosperous as the American people, and that may lead to a clash of ideologies."

Mrs. Trocme answered questions and was thanked by Richard Broughton, vice-president of the Peace by Peaceful Means Society.

Action Call Sent To 4 Departments

Premier Bennett today called for intensive planning by four government departments for the economic and physical development of northern Vancouver Island. He wants the project to begin with highway construction at the beginning of the 1960 fiscal year.

The development he forecast includes:

New hydro electric projects, such as the long-delayed Kish River scheme.

Attraction of new "adaptable" industries to the Island. Completion of a highway and ferry link from Victoria to Port Hardy to Prince Rupert and Kitimat.

The premier told a news conference: "I have asked the minister of highways, the minister of lands and forests, the minister of recreation and the Power Commission to co-operate in setting up a plan for development of northern Vancouver Island, especially from Sayward north."

"I have also asked them to bring private industry into consultation and secure their co-operation."

'TAKE SOME TIME'

"I recognize it will take some time. It will be a long-term plan for economic development that has now been held back too long. I have asked them (his ministers and the power commission) to speed up, so an early start can be made in the 1960 fiscal year."

The premier said the first step would have to be completion of the long-sought northern island highway system "and a lot of private roads should be brought into the scheme."

"The committee will decide which piece of highway gets first consideration," he added, and the power commission would make the recommendations for power development.

50-50 BASIS

However, plans for a road to the island's tip as an extension of the present Island Highway is known to be in planning stage.

Highways Minister Gagliardi said the federal government would be asked to share costs 50-50 and Powell River, Alaska Pine and Tahsis communities would be asked to co-operate in public use of forestry access roads now under their control.

Government survey crews are already working in the area. More than 100 miles of road is required to reach between Kelsey Bay and Port Hardy at the north end of the Island.

Similarly, it is known the B.C. Power Commission has plans ready for development of the 51,500 horsepower potential of the Kokish, 86 miles north of Campbell River.

FERRY SERVICE

The premier said the attraction to the Island of adaptable industries was in mind when the government decided to provide a fast ferry service to the south end of the Island.

The scheme for the over-all development would also include provision of ferry service from the north end to either Kitimat or Prince Rupert.

This was forecast earlier as a possible route for Alaska-U.S. mainland traffic, expected to be greatly increased now the northern territory has statehood.

Island development would include full consideration of recreation facilities, as well, the premier promised. He said it would lead to a balanced province and "a balanced life."

NEW ARCHIVES?

He said the Victoria Capital Improvement District Commission projects and the new courthouse are counted into the scheme, and he hinted a new provincial archives may be in the long-term picture.

"Highways and electric power are two main things—a good highway to Port Hardy," he said, and he remarked when ferry connection is made to the northern mainland, a circle route for tourists would be opened which would funnel more visitors through the Island.

FIREMEN HAMPERED BY SMOKE

Heavy smoke was hampering firemen endeavoring to discover source of a blaze in a home at 2882 Belmont at press time today.

Fire trucks from the RCN fire department and Colwood fire department were on hand.

The house belongs to Anthony Kay. Nobody was home when the outbreak occurred. It was believed the fire started in the basement of the two-storey cedar siding home.

Hunter Turns Up After Cold Night In Coastal Bush

A Vancouver hunter missing overnight near Jackson Bay, on the mainland opposite Kelsey Bay, was reported safe this morning.

Campbell River RCMP identified him as Paul Burnell, who apparently became separated from his two companions, and was forced to sleep overnight before joining them in daylight.

Allan Thompson, 20, lost Wednesday night in the Iron River area south of Campbell River, returned to his home in Campbell River Thursday with the tail and one paw of a cougar which he shot within 10 feet of his overnight shelter.

FOR QUARTER CENTURY NUMBER "13" has been "lucky" for retired salesman James Ferguson, 3225 Cadboro Bay, so much so he has had same 13 licence number during these years. Friday the 13th, today, doesn't phase him a-jot, in fact he likes it. "I'm not superstitious," he says, "except a bit with ladders. Walked under a ladder here a few years ago and a hammer whistled down and nearly clonked me." He has had no major accidents since using "13" plates, reserved for him.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please say how many people in B.C. are drawing the social allowance, that is, $55 a month? B.M.

A. About 11,000, aged 18 to 65. The $55 is for single persons only; married unemployed and unemployables or those with dependents and not qualifying for unemployment insurance receive help on a graduated scale, up from $35.

Q. I had a friend that died defusing a bomb. Who holds the record for defusing bombs? M.M.

A. Werner Stephan of West Berlin. He defused about 5,000 bombs between 1945 and 1967, the year he was killed by explosion of a small grenade.

Brian A. C. Davidson, 2218 Edgelow, pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to a charge of speeding over 50 miles an hour and was fined $15.

"What have you to say for yourself?" Magistrate A. H. Thomas asked.

"We were running short on gas..." Davidson offered.

Two young men each drew $50 fines in city police court today for motor infractions.

Ronald Ford, 18, of 1427 Fort, was fined for drinking a beer on Fort Street and Alphonse J. Jubert, 20, of HMCS Naden, was fined for having a bottle of rum in his possession.

Alternative to the fine was 10 days each. No time was given to pay.

Bertram Harrison, no fixed address, was fined $50 or given the alternative of 10 days in jail in city police court today after pleading guilty to theft of food from Eaton's.

The store's security officer saw him put a T.V. dinner, a tin of mushrooms and meat in a shopping bag, then walk out without paying.

Value was $3.71.

Annual meeting of the B.C. Bulb Growers' Federation will be held at the Sidney Hotel, Sidney, on Saturday, starting at 9.30 a.m. Charles Walls, secretary-manager of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, will address delegates at a dinner at 6 p.m.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Assorted Jams and Teas For Overseas Parcels

By PENNY SAVER

Need suggestions for those Christmas food parcels for overseas friends? Here are two that might help fill them. How about sending one of the boxed selections of assorted jams and jellies I saw this week? There are jars of gooseberry, apricot, damson and strawberry jam, raspberry jelly and marmalade. Boxes come at $1.55.

For friends who relish their early morning cup of tea, what could be nicer than the assortment of teas that sell for $1.25? Box contains packages of jasmine, orange pekoe, English breakfast and Darjeeling tea.

How would you like to feed a family of four with a meat meal for only 50 cents? Yes, it can be done! Secret is to get some pork neck bones that sell for two pounds for 25 cents. These can be cooked just like spareribs. Most popular way is to braise them in a slow oven, covered, for about two hours.

Now there's a nip in the air, stews and soups will appear more often on family menus. Ox-tails, at 19 cents a pound are a wonderful buy and form a good base for a brown gravy stew. They're just as good boiled or braised.

Fresh caught cod is in town in plentiful supply. Cod-steaks at 29 cents a pound make a reasonable and appetizing meal.

Local vegetables provide good variety for this weekend's shopping. Large Savoy cabbages are selling at 19 cents each and leaf lettuce can be bought for only 17 cents. Another good buy is large, tender celery heads. These are selling at 20 cents each. Variety can also be achieved by using Romaine or Swiss chard, as a green vegetable.

Big heads of Romaine sell for 29 cents each and chard costs 29 cents for two pounds.

LOUISE DAVIS

ON ETIQUETTE

Is Mother Jealous?

When your only child marries, should he sign his name to letters home and add his wife's name afterwards? Or does he sign her name first? My son signs his wife's name first, then his. When they got married, all the wedding gifts came with her name first. When the wife writes to her family, she signs her name first, which is OK. I think that when my boy writes home, he should sign his name first, because no one could come in ahead of his child.

Louise Davis Answers:

You aren't looking at this situation objectively. Your son should have been signing all his letters to you with his name only, because he is the one who wrote them. This kind of social boo boo of using the two names as signatures isn't serious. Your son doesn't want to put his own name first any more than he would say (egotistically) "I and Mary went shopping yesterday." He would naturally begin, "Mary and I." Correctly, your son should just sign his own name, John, because the sentences that he is writing are his own, not Mary's. If Mary has a message for you, he can quote her. Example: "Mary asks me to tell you that she received a letter from Helen the other day." When your daughter-in-law writes to her own family, she should sign the letter "Mary", without adding John, because John isn't writing it. In either case, each can write a postscript and sign his or her name to it. When wedding gifts come to a couple even after the wedding, they are sent in the name of the bride. To send a gift to "Mrs. John Smith and Mr. John Smith" is incorrect.

In this exercise, from Josephine Lowman's leaflet No. 2 on abdominal exercises, she makes the books go down by pulling the stomach muscles in. Repeat slowly, making the abdominal wall go up and down.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

She's Thin, But Perhaps Abdominal Muscles Lax

Q. "Since giving birth to my second child my measurements are bust 35 inches, waist 27 and hips 35. I am 5 feet, 5 inches tall and weigh 110 pounds. I feel and look best at this weight so I do not want to gain. My problem is my large waist and a pad of fat just below my waist. How can I remedy this?"

A. You are very much underweight, so much so that it is hard to believe that you feel or look your best at this weight. Even if you have a small build you should weigh 123 pounds. If you have a medium frame you should weigh 136 pounds. You are so thin that I don't see how you could have any fat on you but you probably have lax abdominal muscles. At any rate take abdominal exercises. If you or any of my readers would like to have them, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to me in care of this paper.

Q. "Please advise me if I should lose weight and where. I am 53 years old, 5 feet 3½ inches tall and weigh 138 pounds. My bust measures 38 inches, waist 30 and hips 38½. I exercise a few minutes each morning, am very active and do not look my age."

A. You did not tell me anything about your build and that makes a big difference. If you have a small frame, you are overweight—about 18 pounds. More likely, since you did not mention your build, you have a medium frame, in which case you should lose only five or six pounds. If you have a very heavy build, you should weigh more than that. Take waist-slimming exercises for a loss of a couple of inches in that measurement.

Q. "Is cosmetic wax or a depilatory best to use?"

A. You can use either one. I think a depilatory seems easier.

Q. "If I do not use soap and water in my ears I get blackheads in them. Someone told me that using soap in the ears causes wax to form in them. Please tell me if this is true."

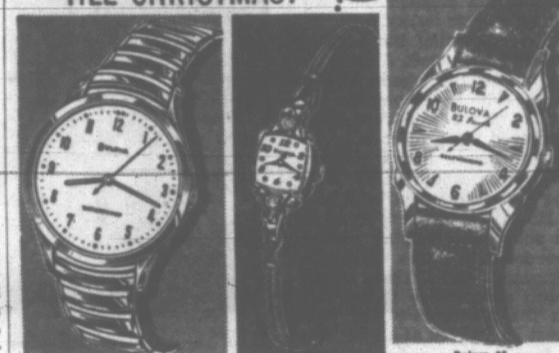

A. It is probably not a good idea to push soapsuds into the ears, but it should be possible to wash the ears with soap and water without doing so. Do not use so much soap and do use a thin washcloth which you can put over your forefinger.

PARLIAMENT TO OPEN 'FULL HOUSE' JAN. 14

OTTAWA (CP)—The 1960 session of Parliament will open Thursday, Jan. 14, it was learned today.

The 265-seat Commons now is at full strength, numbering 208 Progressive Conservatives, 49 Liberals and eight CCF MPs.

FINAL BULLETINS

MacDonald Named to Labor Board

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has taken a step that could heal a breach with the 1,100,000-member Canadian Labor Congress, it was learned today.

Informants said the cabinet has accepted the CLC's nomination of Donald MacDonald, Congress secretary-treasurer, as a member of the Canada Labor Relations Board, to succeed the late A. R. Mesher, after four turn-downs of Congress nominees for government missions in a year.

Stan Leonard Second in Big Tourney

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Kel Nagle, the Australian golfer with the build of a blacksmith, shot his second straight two-under-par 70 today and moved into undisputed first place in the Sydney International golf tournament. One stroke behind is Stan Leonard of Vancouver who shot a 69 today.

Cuba Denies Bid to Split With U.S.

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI)—Cuba said today there is no basis to a charge that there is any "deliberate and concerted effort" to replace its traditional friendship with the United States with a policy of "distrust and hostility."

The denial was made in Cuba's reply to two U.S. notes protesting that Premier Fidel Castro's regime was anti-American.

Cleveland Baseball Star Injures Hand

HAVANA (AP)—Minnie Mino, Cleveland Indians' outfielder, has suffered a fracture of a small bone on the back of his right hand when struck by a pitched ball in the Cuban Winter League. Mino will be out of action for the Mariano team until the end of the month.

Four-Way Vote On Fluoridation

City Council Last in District To Order December Referendum

A Greater Victoria vote on fluoridation was clinched on Thursday when city council ordered a December referendum on the controversial issue.

A split vote among aldermen made the city the final municipality to order a referendum. Oak Bay and Saanich previously promised their residents a vote. Esquimalt council, after rejecting the proposal, changed its mind earlier this week.

Ald. Elmer McEwen, who argued against fluoridation, said he would support the proposal.

Fluoride Violent Poison—McEwen

Ald. McEwen, reading from what he called "the bible of the pharmaceutical world," described fluoride as a violent poison.

"No doctor has come to me as an individual and supported fluoridation. He will in the (medical) association, yes, because that's the only way he can keep his licence," he said. He said council should not order a referendum unless it

POLICE LACK CLUES IN ART THEFT AT UBC

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rewards were expected to be posted today for the return of paintings valued at $40,000, stolen from the art gallery at the University of British Columbia.

A spokesman for an insurance adjusting firm said a cash reward of up to 10 per cent of the value of each painting likely will be offered. He declined to identify himself or his firm.

Meanwhile, RCMP investigators said today they still have no solid lead on the thieves who broke into the basement library early this week and took the paintings from a travelling exhibition.

'Mad Bomber' Feared Loose

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four bomb death threats were reported today following the death of a Staten Island housewife from injuries received when a booby trap grenade exploded in her garage.

Housewives were fearful of going outdoors in the Staten Island neighborhood and car owners approached garage doors with terror, fearful that another "mad bomber" was on the loose.

The death of Mrs. Concetta Giarletta, 41, from a grenade that blew up when she opened her garage door and the warnings to four other persons that they "will be next" spread panic in the Port Richmond district of the island.

New York City had been plagued for 17 years by George Metesky, the original mad bomber, who set off 32 homemade bombs which injured 15 persons during his career. He was captured in 1957 and sent to a home for the criminally insane.

When Mrs. Giarletta got out of her house, she was in front of her garage. Tuesday night the blast from a planted hand grenade, triggered as she raised the overhead garage door, tore off her legs and slashed her body. She received more than 50 wounds. Mrs. Giarletta died Thursday.

Police said Archie Castellano, a contractor of nearby Dongan Hills, answered the phone in his home early today and heard a voice say, "Your garage will be next." Two hours later, Ella Healy of New Dorp received a similar threat.

A threatening caller phoned Mrs. Rhea Scheikowitz, Staten Island, Thursday. The first threat had been made Wednesday.

Police reported they had assigned a guard to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trachta because a rough voice on the telephone had said: "Your garage is next."

Mrs. Trachta was nearly hysterical. So were many others. More than 50 residents asked police to search their garages. Others were afraid to put their cars away

10 BELOW GRIDIRON FOR BOMBERS VS. ESKS

WINNIPEG—The weatherman says it may be 10° below zero Saturday when the Blue Bombers tackle Edmonton Eskimos for the second game of the western football championship.

However, a tarpaulin which covers the gridiron may keep the footing fairly soft. (The game will be nationally televised, starting at 12 noon on CHEK here.)

In the East, Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders will play the opener of the eastern finals.

'BROUGHT UP BY FLEMING'

Bennett Denies Power Tax Bid

Premier Bennett today denied charges he had appealed at Ottawa for abolition of corporation taxes now collected from private utilities such as the B.C. Electric.

"It wasn't brought up by me. It was brought up by Fleming," he said, in reference to federal Finance Minister Donald Fleming.

The premier told a press conference this morning he was discussing talks held in camera. He was incensed at remarks by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan that the premier was spending public time at Ottawa arguing for tax concessions for private power firms, to the detriment of the government-owned B.C. Power Commission.

EACH PROVINCE ASKED

The premier said Mr. Fleming asked each province for its views on the federal corporation tax as applied to private utilities.

9-Year-Old Hero as Four Flee Flames

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP)—Nine-year-old Brian McBurnie saved his mother and two younger children today when fire swept through their home in this community near Vancouver.

Brian, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McBurnie, awoke early this morning and smelled smoke. He dashed downstairs and awakened his mother and younger sister Patsy, eight.

Then the lad returned upstairs, through heavy smoke, for his brother Billie, two. Brian carried Billie to safety downstairs.

All four escaped without injury. Mr. McBurnie was on a hunting trip at the time of the fire, which destroyed the home and caused damage estimated at $15,000. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

"Brian did a wonderful thing," his mother said later. "The smoke and flames were between him and me. I am a heavy sleeper and I'd never have awakened in time if he hadn't come for us."

Cold Weekend —Weatherman

Victoria will have snow flurries Saturday, weatherman William Mackie predicted today. Temperature will drop to 28 and lower later.

They will be the result of a mild weather disturbance, which gave snow in the Queen Charlotte Islands today, jousting with the Arctic air now firmly entrenched over the coast.

There will be increasing cloudiness tonight and generally cloudy skies Saturday, with temperatures on the critical line where the slightest deviation up or down can mean either rain or snow.

COLDEST OF SEASON

"We are calling for snow," he said. "The only question is when it will start."

Temperatures overnight ranged between 24 and 28 degrees in the Greater Victoria areas, lowest reached this season.

JUST RESPIRE

Minimum tonight will be between 28 and 30 degrees, and Saturday's maximum will be 38 degrees, but that will be "just a respite," Mr. Mackie said.

"Arctic air is strengthening in the Yukon," he said, "and it will help to keep things as they are now."

The wintry conditions are expected to last over the weekend.

CANADA FREEZES

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Western Canada was in the grip of below-freezing temperatures today while in other parts of the country the weather ranged from wet snow in most of Southern Ontario to rain in parts of the Maritimes.

Temperatures plunged to the low 20s on the lower B.C. mainland while interior districts such as Kamloops and Prince George were expected to have temperatures from zero to 20 below.

Forecasts today for Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba call for temperatures well below the zero mark. Temperatures were expected to climb slightly higher in western Alberta today but higher winds were also predicted to maintain the chill.

Southern Ontario Thursday night experienced its heaviest snowfall this season with depths ranging from four inches in the Toronto area. Another snowfall is predicted tonight. Temperatures were expected to rise today to the high 30s.

Howling Storms Lash U.K. Coast

LONDON (Reuters)—Pelting rain driven by gale-force winds today washed away heavy fog that had covered wide areas of northwestern Europe Thursday.

Disturbed weather and forecasts of more to come were reported from Scotland to Rome.

Storms lashed the southwestern English coast and the northwestern coast of France. Winds of 104 miles an hour were recorded in Cornwall, and Brittany was battered by 95-mile-an-hour gusts. Gale warnings were issued to shipping in the eastern Atlantic, Irish Sea, North Sea and English Channel.

ROADS BLOCKED

Snow fell in Scotland and the English Midlands, blocking several roads. Rain, hail and snow swept as far south on the Continent as Italy.

The heavy weather on the North Sea hindered ships and aircraft searching for a British jet pilot believed to be on a rubber life raft off the Dutch coast.

The pilot, identified only as FO R. M. West, took off on Wednesday from the Allied air base at Jever, northwest Germany, on a training flight.

SHIPPING HELD UP

Gales with gusts of nearly 60 miles an hour swept northwestern England today and caused delays to shipping in the Mersey River.

The 27,778-ton Cunard liner Britannia and the 25,585-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of England were unable to leave their berths in the Liverpool docks to embark passengers at the landing stage.

A lifeboat spokesman at Hastings, southern England, said rough seas prevented them from going out after receiving a report of a ship in distress about nine miles southeast of the town.

Typhoon Rips Havoc In Okinawa

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—Typhoon Emma blasted through Okinawa early today with winds of more than 110 miles an hour ripping roofs from houses, uprooting trees and causing landslides.

This city was flooded with water six feet deep in low-lying areas. Debris, mud and water soaked many shops, damaging thousands of dollars worth of merchandise.

No deaths or serious injuries were reported in the Naha area, but contact was broken with the northern part of the island where typhoon Charlotte last month killed 45 people.

The weather bureau in Tokyo said the storm was expected to pass 170 miles east of the main Japanese islands.

Intense Cold Along Rockies

DENVER (AP)—Intense cold that plunged temperatures to near-record lows locked the Rocky Mountain states in a wintry grip today on the heels of a 25-inch snowfall that buried Montana.

The temperature was 22° below zero today at Cut Bank, near the Montana-Alberta border.

Sub-zero readings were common from Montana south into Colorado along the eastern slope of the Rockies.

Vancouver Stocks Closing Sales

VANCOUVER—Closing sales were very quiet. Sheep Creek sold 300 at $1.06.
